JOSEPH ROBINETTE BIDEN JR TO HIT THE GROUND RUNNING

On Day One of his administration today, president-elect Joe Biden plans to reverse Trump's harsh immigration policy

8-YR PATH TO CITIZENSHIP FOR IMMIGRANTS

On Wednesday, Biden is expected to unveil a sweeping immigration bill to provide an eight-year path to citizenship for 11 million illegal immigrants. The bill offers a 5-year path to temporary legal status to those living in the US without it. Thereafter, it will be a 3-year path to naturalisation. Biden may also end the ban on arrivals from several Muslim countries

DON TO MISS EVENT, OBAMA TO ATTEND

- Biden's inauguration will take place on the West Front of the US Capitol around 10.30 pm IST. There won't be crowds as the National Mall and Washington Monument are closed due to security threat
- Former presidents Barack Obama, George Bush and Bill Clinton will attend the event, but Donald Trump will give it a miss |P12

GABBACADABRA!

Unlikely heroes defy odds, help battered and bruised India snatch a magical series win at the deadliest of Aussie venues

NEWCOMERS, YET SHOWSTOPPERS

SHUBMAN GILL
Matches 3, Runs 259
Has taken to Test cricket like duck to water. Those back-foot punches, cuts have already won him quite a few admirers. Scored two valuable fifties and it was his 91 that set the tone for India's chase

MOHAMMED SIRAJ
Matches 3, Wickets 13
Find of the tour as far as bowling department goes. Led the attack in the absence of seniors and emerged as India's highest wicket-taker

NAVDEEP SAINI
Matches 2, Wickets 4
A tear-away quick, who India will hear a lot in the coming years. Though he didn't quite make an impact like Siraj, he complimented the attack with crucial breakthroughs

WASHINGTON SUNDAR
Mat 1, Wickets 4, Runs 84
Be it with the ball or with the bat, he didn't show any nerves. His 62 in the first innings kept India in the Test and his final assault on Pat Cummins broke Aussie hopes

T NATARAJAN
Matches 1, Wickets 3
The tour that has made Natarajan a household name beyond Tamil Nadu. Picked as a net bowler, he ended up making debut in all three formats. Here to stay in limited-overs

SHARDUL THAKUR
Mat 1, Wickets 7, Runs 69
It wasn't his debut, but it felt like one as his first Test in 2018 was all of 10 deliveries. His 67 in the first innings was priceless. Also chipped in with 4 wickets in the second

Rishabh Pant (centre) scored an unbeaten 89 to guide India to their second successive Test series win in Australia at the Gabba in Brisbane | AFP

SESSION BY SESSION

STEADY START
Chasing 328, India's plan for Day 5 was simple. Play the entire day was the message. Though they lost Rohit Sharma early, Shubman Gill and Cheteshwar Pujara steadied the ship

CONSOLIDATING THE POSITION
When the post-lunch session began, India still had plenty to do. While Gill cut loose, Pujara did his thing. Josh Hazlewood and Pat Cummins repeatedly tested Pujara, who took blows to his fingers, head, hip, but he stood like a rock. India lost Gill and Ajinkya Rahane in the session

BREACHING THE FORTRESS
Final session of the Tests are not for faint-hearted. Especially if you have the exuberance of Rishabh Pant. After Pujara's dismissal, Pant took charge. In the company of Mayank Agarwal, Washington Sundar and Shardul Thakur, Pant handed Australia their first Test match defeat at the Gabba since 1988

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

FOR one last time, as the clock struck 4.30am on Tuesday morning, the broadcaster opened the last day's preview show with 'Come See The Wonder, Come See The Wonder'. As it was the theme song for the Border-Gavaskar Trophy, it was a constant presence during the last month. During breaks, post match, before the toss... On Tuesday, when it filled the dimly-lit houses across the country, nobody would have had an inkling of the wonder that was about to follow.

Chasing 328 at the Gabba where an opposition team (West Indies) last won in 1988, nobody gave them a sniff. Yet, in what will go down as one of the greatest fourth-innings chases of all time, India got there with about 18 balls to spare. After two months of multiple hard quarantines, suffering racial abuse, losing men like they were on a battlefield and getting bowled out for 36 among other things, they pushed and pulled together as a collective unit for one final dash. It's why coach Ravi Shastri called this as one of India's greatest tours.

That it came down to the final day only added to the theatre, with Shubman Gill and Rishabh Pant, the embodiment of new India, finding an unshakeable ally in Cheteshwar Pujara, the charm of old. Even if this team has spoken a lot about intent, the plan on Tuesday wasn't to actively look for the target or defend. The dressing room message was simple: play normal cricket and see where it takes you.

But the above-mentioned three guys did not play 'normal cricket'. While Pujara copped blow after blow but stood his ground, Gill, free of baggage and fearless in approach, took it on. The runs flowed. By now, pretty much the whole country were living their dreams, hour by hour, session by session.

One thing that this new team excel at is their tunnel vision. For example, Mohammed Siraj mourned the loss of his father while in quarantine. That he was India's highest wicket-taker is a reflection of this ethos. They are outspoken, too. Coming from a farming background, Gill's Instagram stories about the farmers' protest is bold. Like that pull off Mitchell Starc. Or that drive off Pat Cummins. Siraj, for his part, called out racist abuse.

Another cricketer who is bold is Pant. He is so bold, he doesn't care what you think of him. A maverick in every sense, he wasn't even told what to do by the team management. They prefer to leave him alone. The team only realised that he had planned to go after the target when he started looking up at the scoreboard in the final session. Plan is something, execution is another. But he has the conviction and self belief. If that 97 in Sydney was an entree, this unbeaten 89 was the dessert. The clue to his innings lay in his acceleration. Before Pujara's dismissal, he had scored 34 off 84. After Pujara went, he scored 55 off 54. That's what he can do. Chasing down lost causes when a draw would have sufficed to keep the Border-Gavaskar Trophy.

Another sign of this new attitude. Cast your mind back to 2011 when MS Dhoni shook hands and opted for a draw when they needed 86 runs from 15 overs with seven wickets in hand against West Indies. India were leading the series 1-0. This team though? None of that.

More than a hour after the celebrations, the broadcaster, for one last time, said goodbye. 'Come See The Wonder' started playing. P17

SC committee to meet farmers on Thursday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

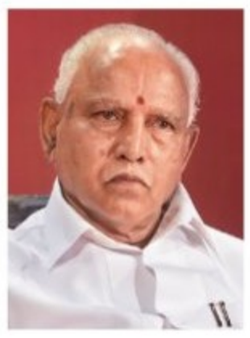
THE Supreme Court-appointed committee on the new farm laws held its first meeting on Tuesday and said it will meet farmer leaders and other stakeholders on Thursday, a day after talks between the farmers and the Centre.

Panel member Anil Ghanwat said both physical and virtual meeting facilities would be available. "The biggest challenge is to convince the agitating farmers to come and speak with us. We will try our level best," he said.

"We will meet all stakeholders, including corporates, to understand their view points. We will reach out to everyone who is concerned about the farm laws," said a member.

The SC had on January 11 stayed the implementation of the new laws and formed a four-member panel comprising Ashok Gulati, Anil Ghanwat, Bhupinder Singh Mann and Pramod Joshi. Shortly thereafter, Mann recused himself after the panel drew flak as all four are known supporters of the three laws. While protesting farmers have already refused to meet the panel, one of its members said, "problems can be only resolved through dialogue. Farmers' organisations should meet us. We will try our best to resolve the issue."

In a different case in the SC, Chief Justice of India S A Bobde remarked that a person will not be disqualified from being a member of a committee merely because he/she has previously expressed an opinion on the subject matter under consideration. P9



State Budget in March first week, says CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Udupi

CHIEF Minister B S Yediyurappa on Tuesday said that he is looking to present the State Budget in the first week of March. Till such time, he will assess the financial situation depending on which, allocations will be made under different heads. Speaking to reporters in Kundapur, the CM said that timely and bountiful rains in the state have helped the farming community reap richer harvest.

"The Legislative Assembly session will start from January 28 and we will discuss how the budgetary allocations can be made this time, given the financial constraints due to the Covid-19 pandemic. But a budget acceptable to all will be presented after a thorough study," he stressed.

The CM, who hold the Finance portfolio, will start holding a series of consultative meetings with the various departments as well as trade and industry bodies over the next few weeks before giving final shape to the budget.

The CM had earlier indicated that there could be a deficit of Rs 40,000-50,000 crore in the budget due to the pandemic and natural disasters like floods and drought. He had also expressed concern over not being able to take up development works on expected lines.

While the government is making all efforts to bring the economy back on track, and also wooing foreign investors to generate employment opportunities, it has also sought central assistance of Rs 5,495 crore, as recommended by the 15th Finance Commission, to tide over the current financial crisis.

Regarding allocation of portfolios to the newly-inducted ministers, Yediyurappa said that it will be done within two days after holding discussions. When asked about disgruntled BJP MLA Renukacharya visiting party leaders in Delhi to vent his ire, the CM told reporters that he has already spoken to the lawmaker and any differences will be sorted out.

Amid all the political wrangling arising out of the cabinet expansion, Yediyurappa is in the coastal town on a temple-hopping spree. His visits, planned right in the middle of the present turmoil, has generated both curiosity and attention.

We will discuss how the budgetary allocations can be made this time, given the financial constraints due to the pandemic. But a budget acceptable to all will be presented after a thorough study

TOP VIROLOGIST FROM B'LURU ON SPUTNIK ADVISORY BOARD

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

BENGALURU'S renowned virologist Dr V Ravi, popular as 'Virus Ravi' for his achievements in the field of virology research, is one of the leading scientists on the International Scientific Advisory Board for Sputnik-V — the world's first registered vaccine against SARS-CoV-2.

Dr Ravi, a member of Karnataka's Covid Advisory Committee, formerly headed the neurovirology department at the National Institute Mental Health and Neurosciences (NIMHANS), Bengaluru. He was one of the first doctors to get the shot in Karnataka when the country-wide vaccination drive against Covid-19 began on January 16.

"I have consented to be part of the board announced by the Russian Direct Investment Fund (RDIF), Russia's sovereign wealth fund, and the National Research Centre for Epidemiology and Microbiology (Gamaleya Centre)," Dr Ravi told TNIE.

The board has leading scientists in virology, microbiology, genetics and biotechnology from Argentina, Croatia, France, Germany, India, Russia, Sweden, the UK and the USA, representing top research and medical centres.

PM meets Cardinals, positive on Pope invite

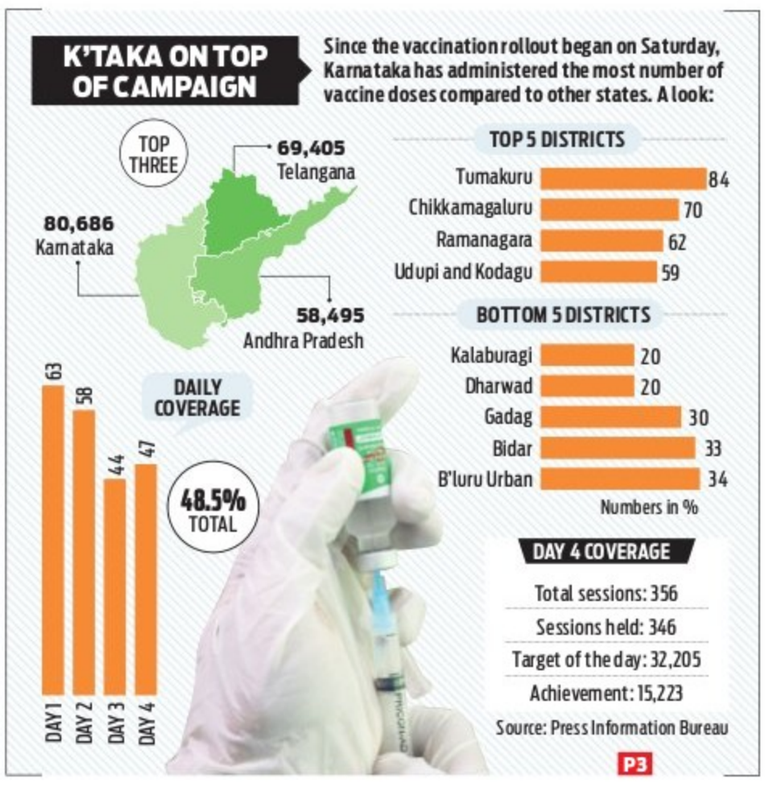
EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

THREE cardinals of the Catholic Church met Prime Minister Narendra Modi at his office in Delhi on Tuesday and expressed the grievances of the Christian community. They also placed a request to invite Pope Francis to the country to which the PM responded positively.

Syro-Malankara Church Thiruvananthapuram Major Archbishop Baselios Cleemis Catholicos, Bombay Archbishop Cardinal Oswald Gracias and Syro-Malabar Major Archbishop Mar George Alencherry raised the "discrimination in the allocation of minority welfare fund" and the demarcation of the Western Ghats' buffer zones, among other issues.

Though the church heads requested the release of Fr Stan Swamy, arrested in connection with the Bhima-Koregaon case, Modi is learnt to have told them it was a legal issue. "There was no political significance to the meeting. The PM lauded the services of the Church in the fields of education, social development and health," said Cardinal Gracias.

Mizoram Governor and former BJP state president P S Sreedharan Pillai facilitated the meeting, but he could not attend it as he has quarantined himself after his wife tested positive for Covid-19.



Bengaluru to host top RSS body meeting in March

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA, which has managed the Covid-19 situation quite well, will play host to the Akhil Bharatiya Pratinidhi Sabha (ABPS), the highest decision-making body of Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS), in March. The meeting was earlier planned to be held in Nagpur, Maharasthra.

With the neigbouring state witnessing a high number of Covid-positive cases every day, there was apprehension that the government there could restrict number of people assembling in one place.

Top RSS functionaries will now descend on Bengaluru for a two-day brainstorming session from March 19, which will be held at the Janaseva Vidya Kendra, Channenahalli, located on Magadi Road.

In 2020, the meeting was originally scheduled to be held in Bengaluru from March 15 to 17 and around 1,400 members were expected to attend. But it was cancelled due to the Covid-19 pandemic. Now, with the state witnessing a decline in Covid-19 cases, it was again chosen to host the annual event.

There is speculation that the election to the top executive post of RSS, the Sarkaryavah (General Secretary), will also take place during the two-day meeting. The election is conducted once in three years. CONTINUED ON: P5

MM HILLS TO GET TIGER RESERVE TAG SOON

Proposal for bear sanctuary in Ramanagara fails to get approval

Board rejects Hessarghatta conservation reserve project

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE proposal to declare Male Mahadeshwara Hills Wildlife Sanctuary as a tiger reserve is rapidly moving ahead. If all goes well, then this will be the sixth tiger reserve of the state, after Bandipur, Nagarahole, Bhadra, BRT and Kali.

The proposal was discussed at Tuesday's meeting and the forest department has informed the state government that they had communicated to the National Tiger Conservation Authority to go ahead with the existing identified area.

"The NTCA has sought to include portions of Cauvery Wildlife Sanctuary also in its area, but we do not want to be greedy and are keen to go ahead with only what is approved before there are any more objections. Gradually we can add Cauvery Wildlife Sanctuary to the MM Hills Tiger Reserve or declare it separately. Either way, MM Hills will be declared as the sixth tiger reserve soon," a forest official said.

The proposal to declare Mullayanagiri forests as a conservation reserve was approved by the State Board of Wild Life (SBWL). The file will now be placed before the cabinet sub-committee.

At the meeting, chaired by Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa, and attended by Forest Minister Anand Singh, it was also decided to go ahead with Hiriyur Taluk MLA's proposal to declare Marikanive and other forest areas as "Uttaragudda Wildlife Sanctuary" of Hiriyur and Hosadurga range of Chitradurga division of Ballari Circle.

The area houses four-horned antelopes, hyena, leopards, bears and reptiles, plants of high commercial value and medicinal plants. Also, the backwaters of Vanivilas Sagar dam have the presence of otters. The SBWL had received a proposal to declare Marikanive State Forest, Lakkihalli Reserve Forest, Yelladakere minor forest and other forest areas comprising a total of 18,925.5 hectares as Uttaragudda Sanctuary.

The SBWL declared Mundagi Lake as "Mundagi Lake and Bird Conservation Reserve" in Sonda village gram panchayat of Sirsi taluk, and Bankapur Block-1 reserve forest in the Gangavati Range of Koppal Division as "Bankapura Wolf Sanctuary". It has also declared 1180.29 ha area of Irakalgada beat in Koppal Range as "Hiresulekere sloth bear conservation reserve".

However, the proposal to declare a total area of 4167.94 ha of forest area in the Ramanagara Division of Bangalore Circle as a Bear Sanctuary did not get the nod. A forest official said the reason cited for dropping the proposal was that the area was close to Bengaluru and development was important.

Check for begging rackets, says HC judge

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE government should ensure that the children who have dropped out of schools and are working at bus stands, markets and are even begging, get proper education, said Karnataka High Court Judge Justice V Srishananda.

He was speaking during a workshop on 'Prevention of Child Beggary and Child Hawking' in the city on Tuesday. The day-long workshop was organised by Karnataka State Legal Services Authority, Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP), Karnataka Police and the Department of Social Welfare and Women and Child Welfare Department.

"Many women are seen on the roads, begging with children. The government needs to find out the reason behind this after conducting a proper survey. They have to find out whether there is a lack of facilities," Justice Srishananda said, adding that proper rules should be framed to prevent children from begging and selling things.

BBMP Commissioner N Manjunatha Prasad, who presided over the event, directed officials to undertake a survey to check if there was a begging racket operating in Karnataka like in other states. He said there was a need to identify the sensitivity as to why these people are begging, and only when the exact reason is found, begging can be controlled.

Recollecting his days of working as a district commissioner in Murshidabad in West Bengal, Prasad said he had got a call from the Saudi Arabia consulate, stating that they detained around 70-80 children who were involved in begging. After investigation, it was found that the children were married off and were trafficked to Arabs and were pushed into begging and other illegal affairs. Further probe revealed the children who were trafficked from India were mainly from Uttar Pradesh and Bihar, he added.

The commissioner said that such a racket could be operating in Bengaluru also and there is a mafia involved which needs to be stopped.

He added that BBMP and BMTC will soon launch mobile buses and teach slum students. By doing this, the children who are out of the education system will be brought back to the mainstream. Teams have been formed to identify beggars, Prasad said.

With schools reopening, Metro ridership goes up

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

WITH offline classes resuming from January 1, Metro ridership has touched 1.25 lakh daily, mostly due to students availing the service again. Since Metro resumed services on September 7, they have been struggling to see even one lakh riders on a single day.

A S Shankar, Executive Director, Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL), told The New Indian Express, "With students going for schools and colleges again, we have seen an increase in riders. Also, Green Line of Phase-I (Yelachenahalli-Nagasandra), which usually lags behind the Purple Line in terms of ridership, is almost catching up or even has an slight edge over the Purple Line now." The surge in ridership came to the fore last week after BMRCL released its data.

"We were only touching a little over one lakh earlier on an average during working days. So, this is a clear indication that the student crowd is contributing to the increase in ridership," Shankar added.

Another Metro official said that the work from home trend had impacted its ridership considerably. They are expected the newly-launched extension of Green Line to boost ridership in the coming days.

RECHARGE METRO CARD WITH PAYTM NOW

Shankar also said that one can recharge the Smart Card using PayTM. "We rolled out this feature five days ago and commuters have started using it. There is no need to access the Namma Metro app. PayTM now has an option to recharge metro cards," he said.

PETER VIDAL

20th January: Have you heard the latest news that there's more water than anyone thought possible out there in the universe? We've just found a planet the size of the Sun entirely covered in water. Who knows what sort of sea creatures inhabit such a world. I wonder if we will ever find out? I hope so!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
It will be a rare Aries who is not deeply influenced by sentimental feelings for the past. Increasingly it is your home and family background which tug at your heartstrings. Give the maximum attention to financial matters, and don't accept amazing promises at face value.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You may now hear from loved ones who are overseas or far away. Communications will also arrive before long from people from your past. Strange encounters will revive pleasant contacts and fond memories. It's all down to that emotional planet, Venus, which brings a gradual awakening to romantic possibilities.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Consider your situation carefully. In business matters, as in other areas, it may be you who is owed an apology. So, why don't you look at the past - and try to figure out the best solution? You'd also be wise to avoid undertaking any dubious commitments for the future!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Planetary activity over the next few days will confirm what all sensitive people knew anyway - that the Cancerian vision is utterly remarkable in all respects. If you have creative goals on the go, put the emphasis on practical achievements - and let your imagination fly.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Whatever you do, whatever you say, you won't be able to hide the fact that you're searching for something more meaningful in your day-to-day existence. You know that someone, somewhere, is sending you fond thoughts. It's nice to think that they're on your side even if they're a long way away.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
There is plenty of space for your Virgoan qualities of efficiency and order. But if you start trying to dominate the situation and insist that everything is in its proper place and that others live up to their promises, you may be facing an uphill struggle.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Even more than in the past, it's vital to remember that Libra is the sign of balance. You occupy a pivotal role, standing at the fulcrum of everything that's happening. It's all quite a responsibility but, by next week, you'll be ready to take on any number of new commitments.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You share superb travel stars with a close partner. Short journeys are more likely to be for business, longer trips for pleasure. Careful organisation, though, is absolutely vital. And one other thing - partners have the best ideas, so listen carefully.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Your birth-sign is ruled by the optimistic planet, Jupiter, which largely accounts for some of your better qualities - your wisdom, for example. Your ability to see ahead is central to your current ambitions, but there's a social factor at work, and that means you're best off as part of a team.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Deep down you should realise that you have more to gain than to lose from current personal disputes. You may even come to understand that criticism and differences of opinion are all for the best. And with Mercury still so positively placed, your intuitions will be right - at least, most of the time!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Certain colleagues and associates naturally hope that you will run out of steam, perhaps because you've worn them out over the last six months. If so, I'm afraid their hope is a vain one. Your ideas, especially at work, are likely to be even more lively than usual.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Many people around you, both at home and at work, seem to be caught in a fog of uncertainty or confusion. You are well used to such conditions and are therefore ideally situated to extract the maximum advantage. It looks to me as if you will be your usual, sensitive self.

JAB FOR THE WARRIOR

In the midst of truly divided opinion in the medical and scientific community, many of us doctors put away our initial and misplaced concerns to be among the first recipients of the Covishield vaccine. Controversies aside, the sheer scale of the effort of civic agencies was impressive. I urge the public to repose faith in this effort of the government and ensure that this vaccination drive is successful. Let us join hands with governments across the globe in their concerted efforts to mitigate the onslaught of this virus. It has been over 24 hours since the dose and I have had no symptoms or side-effects

DR SUNIL NARAYAN DUTT, Senior consultant, ENT, Apollo Hospitals

I was the first to take the vaccine in the hospital as I intended to build confidence in the health staff. I wanted to make them understand that the vaccine is good and that they need to take it to be safe. We (health workers) need to protect ourselves so that we can protect rest of the people. Initially, we badly wanted the vaccine. But now when it's here, we have all doubts. Everyone should come forward and take it. When I took the vaccine, it was just a small prick and I had no side-effects. Of the 600 beneficiaries who were to take the shot in our hospital on Tuesday, 305 were vaccinated. The CoWIN portal had issues due to which many people did not receive the message. We expect the response to be over 70% in the next round if there is no glitch in the portal

SINCE the vaccine drive began on Saturday, Karnataka has immunised the maximum number of beneficiaries compared to other states. It topped the list with 80,686 people taking the jab in four days, followed by Telangana (69,405) and Andhra Pradesh (58,495), according to information provided by the Press Information Bureau.

While no major Adverse Events Following Immunisation (AEFI) were reported in the state, five were reported in Bengaluru and the person in Chitradurga District Hospital is under observation.

Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar tweeted, "Most people have been vaccinated in our country and the vaccines are safe. The vaccination in Karnataka has been successful. Dont believe the rumours. There is no fear of the vaccine."

Karnataka covered 15,223 people (47%), less than half of its target of 32,205 beneficiaries on Tuesday. In BBMP limits, 94 session sites were selected. In Bengaluru Urban only three session sites -- Narayana Hrudalaya, RR Medical College and NIMHANS -- were chosen as routine immunisation of measles and pentavalent vaccines was being held at government centres, a health official said.

BBMP limits reported five AEFI cases: two each from RR Nagar and West zone, and one from Yelahanka. In RR Nagar zone a 30-year-old male health care worker who received the shot on January 18 at a private hospital, developed nausea and body pain towards evening and is under observation in hospital. A 35-year-old woman who also received the jab that day at the same hospital developed fever, and was given antivirals and sent home.

"Both are fine. There is nothing to worry. These are mild side-effects which are seen in certain cases," said BBMP health officer, RR Nagar.

"None of the AEFI cases reported in Bengaluru are critical. They just had swelling and irritation which is normal when people receive intramuscular injection for vaccines," said BBMP Commissioner Manjunatha Prasad.

In Chikkaballapur, Kolar, Mysuru, Uttara Kannada, Vijayapura and Yadgir, Covid vaccination was not done due to routine immunisation programmes for children.

Dr Naveen S, principal, Raja Rajeshwari Medical College and Hospital, said, "600 Covishield doses were sent to us. We have administered the vaccine to 350 beneficiaries so far. No major side-effects were reported, aside from pain at site of injection and shoulder pain. The remaining 2,483 health care staff and students will be covered in the next few days."

The CoWIN portal has not functioned properly since January 16. "When vaccination started, the portal did not work and caused delay. We didn't wait for long and began to manually enter beneficiaries' details," said a doctor from Ramaiah Memorial Hospital.

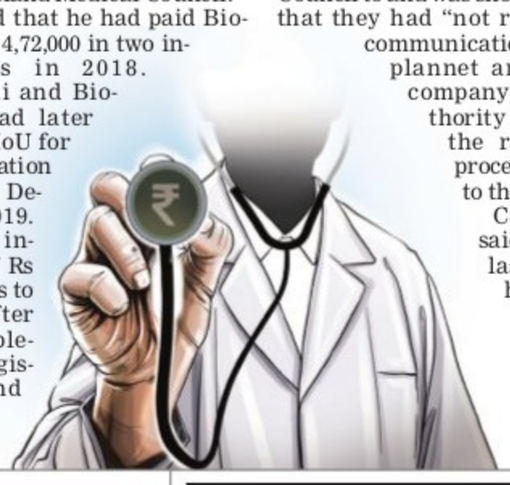
Doc writes to MEA over job fraud

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AN orthopaedic surgeon from Ahmedabad has approached the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) to help him get justice in an alleged fraud by a Bengaluru-based consultancy/services agency, which claims to help healthcare professionals in getting placements abroad.

The complainant, Dr Bhuvnesh Chaturvedi, in October last year had sent an email to the MEA regarding the company – Bioplannet India Private Limited, Bengaluru – stating that he wanted to work overseas and had enrolled with the company in 2018 for registering him with the Ireland Medical Council.

He stated that he had paid Bioplannet Rs 4,72,000 in two instalments in 2018. Chaturvedi and Bioplannet had later signed a MoU for the registration process in December 2019. The final instalment of Rs 1,77,000 was to be paid after the "completion of registration and placement," stated the MoU.



"I had visited Bioplannet and had met Mr Senthil, director, and discussed my registration process. Senthil and his staff had assured me that they were the authorized agency and would complete the registration process within nine months from the date of registration/enrolment (May 2018).

Based on their promise, I transferred Rs 4,72,000 in two instalments (Rs 1,18,000 on May 23, 2018 and Rs 3,54,000 on August 30, 2018) through bank transfer," Chartuvedi said.

He added that as he didn't hear about his registration from the company despite several efforts, he wrote a mail to the Ireland Medical Council to and was shocked to learn that they had "not received any communication from Bioplannet and that the company had no authority to carry out the registration process," he wrote to the MEA.

Chaturvedi said that in the last two years he had made multiple visits to Bengaluru to follow up with Bioplannet. "They moved from HSR Layout to Richmond Road and Koramangala," he said.

He has filed two complaints against Bioplannet and Senthil at the HSR and Koramangala police stations. The MEA had forwarded the mail to the Protector of Emigrants (PoE), Bengaluru, asking him to look into Chaturvedi's complaint. "We summoned Senthil to the PoE office but he has not appeared," Shubham Singh, PoE, Bengaluru, told TNIE. He said that he has received more than one complaint against the company.

Singh said that "there is no registered overseas recruitment agency in the name of Bioplannet in Karnataka."

HSR Police Inspector Munireddy said that they had summoned Senthil but he did not appear.

When approached, Senthil said that he was in touch with Chaturvedi. Regarding the complaint, he said, "Bioplannet helps healthcare professionals with the documentation and registration process for overseas placement. We had sent Rs 3 lakh to the Ireland Medical Council for Chaturvedi's documentation but the process has got delayed because of the Covid pandemic."

He agreed that he had changed his office location. "What is wrong with that?" he asked.

Dr Ravi on Sputnik Board a plus for India

KIRILL Dmitriev, CEO of the Russian Direct Investment Fund, said in a release, "The RDIF and the Gamaleya Centre initiated the creation of the International Scientific Advisory Board on the Sputnik-V vaccine and the formation of an international platform where vaccine developers could exchange information, opinions and expertise with their leading foreign colleagues. This scientific exchange has become specially in demand due to the pandemic of the new coronavirus infection, a global problem that has stimulated the pooling of the entire global scientific and research potential. We are grateful to all the experts who accepted our offer and joined the Board. An international partnership, including on the coronavirus vaccine, is key to the ultimate victory and proves once again that the noble goal of saving lives has no boundaries."

Dr Ravi being part of the advisory board makes it advantageous for India, as Sputnik-V recently got approval from the Drugs Control General of India (DCGI) in India and Dr Reddy's Laboratories is all set to start the randomised, double-blind, parallel-group, placebo-controlled study to be carried out on 1,500 participants in the country this month.

The RDIF said that Sputnik-V has a number of key advantages as its efficacy is over 90% with full protection against severe cases of Covid-19.

The vaccine is based on a proven and well-studied platform of human adenoviral vectors, which cause common cold and have been around for thousands of years.

The vaccine uses two different vectors for the two shots in the course of vaccination, providing immunity with a longer duration.

Meanwhile, over 1.5 million people have already been vaccinated with Sputnik-V, the has RDIF said.

Three held for bike lifting

BENGALURU: The Chandra Layout Police have arrested a gang of three bike lifters who used to lift two-wheelers parked in front of houses. The arrested people, Mubarak (27), Mehaboob Pasha (32) and Mohemed Salah (24), residents of Padarayanapura and KR Puram, were traced through CCTV camera footage. Police nabbed them on Monday. A senior police officer of the Chandra Layout station said that on October 27 last year, a series of bike thefts were reported, so police started tracking the miscreants through CCTV footage. The police found that more than 20 two-wheelers were stolen in Rajajinagar, CK Achchukattu, KR Puram and Ramamurthynagar. A special team was formed to identified the accused. Acting on a tip-off, the police nabbed the three accused when they were scouting for two-wheelers. Stolen bikes worth Rs 12 lakh and two mobile phones were seized from them.

Portfolio management to test CM's skills tomorrow

Reshuffle likely; Shettar's name doing rounds for Belgaum LS seat

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister B S Yediyurappa, who announced that he will allocate portfolios to the new ministers on Thursday, is likely to effect a minor reshuffle in ministries. There is a buzz in political circles that Medium and Large Scale Industries Minister Jagadish Shettar is being considered for the Belgaum Lok Sabha bypoll. While Shettar has stated that he is not keen on contesting the bypoll, and the issue was not discussed, sources in the party said central leaders have shown keen interest in fielding him.

While reshuffling portfolios, Yediyurappa is likely to hand over some of the additional portfolios that are with him and a few other ministers, to the seven ministers inducted into the cabinet last Wednesday. However, with new ministers eyeing big portfolios, he is looking to strike a balance between newcomers and other ministers. "In the process, there might be a minor reshuffle of portfolios,'' sources in the CMO said.

Sources said BJP leaders in the State and Centre are keen on giving Shettar the Belgaum Lok Sabha bypoll ticket. Shettar, who was chief minister earlier, and is a senior cabinet minister, was also district incharge minister of Belagavi. He is related to late Suresh Angadi, who passed away in September due to Covid-19. Shettar's son is married to Angadi's daughter, and both leaders are from the Lingayat community.

However, Shettar has clarified he is not interested in contesting the bypoll. "I have said this earlier too. There were no talks with Amit Shah during his recent Belagavi visit. I will not contest,'' he said on Tuesday. Sources in the party said Hubli-Dharwad West MLA Aravind Bellad is bringing pressure on party leaders to induct him into the cabinet. Bellad and Honnali MLA MP Renukacharya were in New Delhi on Tuesday. "If Shettar is made MP, Bellad can be accommodated under Hubballi region," sources said.

When contacted, Union Minister Pralhad Joshi said they had not taken any decision on the candidate for Belgaum LS seat. No names were considered or discussed, and the central leadership will decide on it after the state unit sends some names, the minister added.

There is a buzz that Revenue Minister R Ashoka and newly inducted minister Murugesh Nirani are eying the Medium and Large Scale Industries portfolio. Umesh Katti is keen on Power, Aravind Limbavali on Bengaluru Development and Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Water Resources. The portfolios will be announced on Thursday.

DISSIDENCE IN BJP

UNHAPPY MLAs MAKE A BEELINE TO DELHI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IT'S been barely three days since Union Home Minister Amit Shah asked state BJP leaders to rein in public display of dissent over cabinet expansion, but the agitated MLAs are taking their grouse to the Central leadership.

MLA and Chief Minister's political secretary MP Renukacharya took off to New Delhi to meet the party's central leaders and air his concerns. Renukacharya's visit comes at a time when MLAs like Arvind Bellad, Sunil Kumar and SA Ramadas have also been reaching out to the Central leadership. Renukacharya's dash to Delhi comes after an agitated Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa said anyone with concerns should meet the central leadership.

Renukacharya — often deemed a close aide of Yediyurappa — has been vocal about his disappointment over CP Yogeshwara being picked for the cabinet, much more than him not making the cut.

"We are not dissidents or rebels. We are only voicing our legitimate concerns within the party's framework. There are no complaints against the party or Chief Minister," Renukacharya said, even as he questioned the choice of cabinet picks.

Renukacharya has so far visited New Delhi twice, and has even met Karnataka incharge general secretary Arun Singh.

A bunch of BJP leaders is already lobbying with senior party leaders.

"The BJP leadership does not comprise leaders who are known in public space. There are many others whom we can approach and who will take up our cause. We will continue to reach out to them," said a senior MLA who is miffed with the choice of ministers.

Rebel BJP MLAs are also seeking the central leadership's view on alleged blackmail being used to get a cabinet berth.

A total of 410 new projects have been approved. These proposals would bring in an investment of ₹82,015 crore

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

KARNATAKA'S new industrial policy aims at attracting Rs 5 lakh crore investments that could create employment for 20 lakh people by 2025, said Large and Medium Industries Jagadish Shettar here on Tuesday.

Releasing the New Industrial Policy 2020-25 handbook, Shettar said the policy aims to build a prosperous Karnataka and create large-scale employment opportunities. The new policy will bring several incentives and regulatory reforms such as land access and labour market regulation. It also aims at the holistic development of the state and looks beyond Bengaluru to promote Tier-2 and Tier-3 cities as engines of economic growth, Shettar said.

The policy has also grouped districts into three zones to incentivize investments in the industrially backward districts. The industrially backward districts are classified in Zone-1 & 2, and Bengaluru Urban and Rural districts are classified in Zone-3, Shettar explained.

Shettar said all new industrial investment projects shall create maximum possible direct employment opportunities with a minimum employment of 70% to Kannadigas on an overall basis and 100% in case of Group C and D employees.

According to the Ministry of Industry and Internal Trade Promotion of the Ministry of Commerce and Industry, as many as 95 investment proposals have been registered in the state, amounting to ₹1,54,937 crore. Between August 2019 and December 2020, the State High-Level Committee and the State High-Level Single Window Clearance Committee have approved 410 new projects, Shettar said.

From October 2019 to September 2020, the Foreign Direct Investment flow has been ₹58,204 crore, he added. Gaurav Gupta, Additional Chief Secretary, Commerce and Industries Department and Gunjan Krishna, Commissioner for Industrial Development and Director of Industries and Commerce, were among those present.

Upper House Dy Chair polls on January 29

ENS @Bengaluru

ALMOST a month after Deputy Chairman SL Dharmegowda was found dead on railway tracks in Kadur, in a case of a suspected suicide, polls will be held to fill up the deputy chairman's post in the Karnataka Legislative Council on January 29.

The nomination process will be allowed up to 3pm January 28, when any member of the House can recommend another member for the post, along with a third member's endorsement. Legislative Council Secretary K R Mahalakshmi issued notification for the election process on Tuesday, as per the Council Chairman's directions.

"Any member of the House can indicate a nominee of their choice to the secretary. The nominated candidate must submit the recommendation in writing, along with the recommender or endorser. A member whose name is nominated for the polls should submit in writing their willingness to work as Deputy Chairman in case of their election," the notification said. Further, no member can nominate themselves or endorse their own nomination. No member is allowed to submit more than one recommendation and endorsement.

Belagavi Rural MLA Laxmi Hebbalkar, along with farmers who are leaving for Bengaluru to join the Raj Bhavan Chalo protest rally

BELAGAVI FARMERS TO JOIN STIR IN LARGE NUMBERS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Belagavi

TO join the 'Raj Bhavan Chalo' agitation, which will be launched by the Congress in Bengaluru on January 20, a large number of farmers under the leadership of Belagavi Rural MLA Laxmi Hebbalkar, left for the capital in different vehicles on Tuesday.

Before leaving in a bus along with farmers, Hebbalkar spoke on how the country had been largely dependent on farmers. "India has been largely dependent on the agriculture sector and it cannot not afford to neglect farmers," she added.

"For several decades, the Congress had initiated several initiatives for farmers' welfare and has attempted to bolster the agriculture sector. However, the Union government recently introduced anti-farmer policies which were against the larger interest of farmers," she said.

The Belagavi Rural MLA informed that hundreds of farmers from her constituency (Belagavi Rural) were leaving for Bengaluru to take part in it. Besides a special bus for the farmers, Hebbalkar said, a large number of them from her constituency are also taking vehicles to join the Bengaluru protest.

Congress' Raj Bhavan protest against farm bills today

ENS @Bengaluru

AS part of the party's nationwide drive against the Union government's contentious farm bills, the Congress unit in Karnataka will take part in a protest rally on Wednesday. KPCC President D K Shivakumar said the rally, which will include party workers as well as farmers from across the state, will end with a call for "Raj Bhavan Chalo." This is the second time the Karnataka Congress has called for a protest amid a pandemic and a call for gheraoing the Raj Bhavan. The party has called on farmers unions and various pro-farmer organisations to take part in the rally.

The protest will be part of Congress' 'Raitha Adhikar Diwas' and will begin at 10.30 am from the Sangolli Rayanna Statue at Gandhi Nagar and proceed to Freedom Park.

Shivakumar said, "What the government is doing to the farmers is wrong. Congress is with the protesting farmers and we demand the withdrawal of all three farm bills. The rally will also highlight the government's mishandling of Covid funds and the inconvenience being caused to people due to municipal taxes."

The party expects to see hundreds of vehicles to gather near the city railway station to participate in the rally.

'Cases against gau rakshaks will be withdrawn'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

ANIMAL Husbandry Minister Prabhu Chauhan on Tuesday said the government will withdraw cases filed against 'gau rakshaks' for stopping transportation of cattle to slaughterhouses in the state.

At a review meeting of the department, MLAs Bharat Shetty and Vedavyas Kamath told the minister that their workers were being arrested for stopping transportation of stolen cattle and urged him to stop it.

Later, at a press meet, the minister said cases filed against gau rakshaks will be withdrawn. To a query that many cases against gau rakshaks pertain to assaults, and whether they will also be withdrawn, the minister said he will take a call after discussions with Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai.

Animal Husbandry Minister Prabhu Chauhan chairs a review meeting of his department in Mangaluru on Tuesday

Chauhan directed officials to implement the Karnataka Prevention of Slaughter and Preservation of Cattle Ordinance, 2020, stating it would bring down illegal slaughter of cattle to a great extend. The number of goshalas will be increased and their grants too will be bigger.

He said farmers have not sought compensation to take care of non-productive cattle or to send them to goshalas, but the government will consider giving compensation to farmers for maintenance of non-productive cattle.

20 illegal slaughterhouses

MLA Kamath said that while there is one legal slaughterhouse for cattle in Mangaluru city, there are at least 20 illegal ones, and sought measures to close them down. After laws on cattle slaughter became strict, beef is being supplied to Dakshina Kananda from Kerala and neighbouring districts, and wanted a checkpost in Kudroli, where a slaughterhouse is located, to check the illegal transportation of cattle.

Deputy Commissioner KV Rajendra and SP BM Lakshmiprasad requested the minister to provide special vans to every taluk to transport cattle under the Motor Vehicles Act, stating that it will make it easier to identify illegal cattle transporters.

Sadananda warns Yatnal of disciplinary action

Mangaluru: Union minister and former CM D V Sadananda Gowda on Tuesday warned his party leader MLA Basavraj Yatnal that if he continues to criticise the party, the Central party leaders will soon take an action against him. Gowda was speaking in Puttur during the Janasevaka Samavesha. "When I was the state party chief, even then Yatnal used to speak against BJP. When he continued to indulge in anti-party activities, I had expelled him from the party. Now, he has started criticising party leaders again. The party high command has found that he is eyeing some key positions in the party which is why he is openly criticising the party," Gowda said, adding that if he has issues, he should bring it to the notice of high command. ENS

Party will take care of Muniratna, says Arun Singh

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

EVEN as some BJP legislators continue to express displeasure over the cabinet expansion and have landed in New Delhi with their complaints, the party central leadership is confident of defusing the situation by taking them into confidence.

"They are our party leaders and we will take them into confidence," BJP national general secretary in-charge of Karnataka Arun Singh told The New Indian Express. The cabinet expansion and induction of ministers was done as per Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa's decision and portfolio allocation too would be decided by him, and the central leaders would not interfere, Singh said.

"No, there is no such proposal now," Singh said responding to a question on Water Resources Minister Ramesh Jarkiholi's statement that cabinet reshuffle will be taken up in April and many legislators, who have been left out during the recent rejig, will be inducted into the ministry.

He, however, said the party will take care of RR Nagar MLA N Muniratna. "He is a good leader and has won the bypoll with a big margin of over 50,000 votes," he said, and emphasized that despite him not being considered during the cabinet rejig, Muniratna had not spoken against the party or its leaders.

Despite the CM's assurance, the RR Nagar MLA was not inducted into the ministry.

Dismissing the allegations over a CD being used for blackmail, Singh said he had visited Karnataka several times after he was made party general secretary incharge of the state and nobody had spoken to him about any CD. "I don't know what CD you are talking about. It could be about songs, bhajans also. We cannot talk about it without knowing what it is," he said. When specifically asked about allegations made by his party leader Basangouda Yatnal, he said everyone knew about his track record.

After the cabinet expansion, ministers will now focus on ensuring proper implementation of state and central government schemes by travelling across the state. The party will also focus on preparing for the Taluk and Zilla Panchayat elections and also strengthening the organization at booth level, especially in the Old Mysuru region. "Compared to Gram Panchayat elections in 2015, we have done well in the recent polls in the Old Mysuru region. We will continue to focus more on the region and even come out with a strategy" Singh added.

DKS hits out at state govt over Maratha board decision

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

AS Congress leaders in Maharashtra jumped to support their CM's remarks on the border issue, Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) president DK Shivakumar on Tuesday slammed Uddhav Thackeray for his "politically motivated remarks." The Congress leader also hit out at the state government for its decision to constitute Maratha Development Board.

Shivakumar said the border issue is a closed chapter. "We will all also work together for the development of Karnataka. Not an inch of land will go to them or be taken from the neighbouring state. It has already been decided and Mahajan report is final. We strongly condemn Maharashtra CM's remarks," he said.

Stating that all measures have been taken for the welfare of Maratha community people in Karnataka, the Congress leader said there was no need for a separate development authority and the BJP government's decision is aimed at dividing people.

Karnataka Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa, Congress leaders and pro-Kannada activists have also slammed the Maharashtra CM for his remarks on the border issue.

Advocate files plaint against ex-judge

Seeks action in connection with probe into a bribery case involving conman Yuvaraj

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AN advocate has filed a complaint with the Central Crime Branch on Tuesday against a retired High Court judge, in connection with the ongoing probe into a bribery case. The judge had filed a complaint that she had given Rs 8.80 crore as bribe to notorious conman Yuvaraj, alias Swamy, to get a governor's post.

Amruthesh N P, the advocate, wants the CCB police to consider the judge as an accused in the case. He has alleged in the complaint that the judge had encouraged corruption by paying a bribe to Yuvaraj.

"It is clear from her statement that she had bribed accused Yuvaraj to get the post through the backdoor, despite having knowledge of constitutional procedures and how governors are appointed. Only after Yuvaraj was arrested did the retired judge send her statement to the Wilson Garden police station, fearing that her paying a bribe to him will also come out," Amruthesh alleged. It was surprising that the police had registered an FIR based only on her statement, he added.

"As a former High Court judge, she is bound to uphold the honour of the judicial system. She is also bound to inform the court about such incidents, though she has retired. But she has failed to do so. Hence, she should be considered an accused along with Yuvaraj in the case, and legal action should be initiated," he stated in the complaint.

> It is clear from her statement that she had bribed accused Yuvaraj to get the post through the backdoor, despite having knowledge of constitutional procedures and how governors are appointed
> Amruthesh N P, advocate

The retired judge had lodged a complaint with Wilson Garden police in December, stating that to get a governor's post, she had paid Rs 8.80 crore to Yuvaraj, introduced to her by retired SP Papaiah in 2018.

HC upholds K'taka anti-land grab Act

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday upheld the constitutional validity of the Karnataka Land Grabbing Prohibition Act and directed the State Government to establish special courts in districts, wherever necessary, to try cases registered under the Act. However, the court struck down Section 9(4) pertaining to determination of criminal liability.

A division bench of Justices Aravind Kumar and B A Patil, pronounced the judgment to this effect as most of the concerns raised by the petitioners who questioned the validity of the Act, were addressed by the government last year through an amendment. The Act came into force in 2014 to curb organised attempts at land grab, whether land belonged to the government, Wakf Board or the Hindu Religious Institutions and Charitable Endowments, local authorities or other statutory or non-statutory bodies owned or controlled or managed by the government.

The bench said that around 3,200 of 7,878 cases registered under the Act between 2016 and 2020, had been disposed of. Currently, there is only one special court in Bengaluru to deal with cases registered under the Act. People who face charges under the Act in different districts, farmers in particular, have to go to Bengaluru to attend hearings. In view of this, the court directed the state government to set up special courts, preferably in all districts, to try such cases.

Terming the Act as draconian, the petitioners had contended that the Act was in violation of Articles 14, 20 and 21 of the Constitution and it does not provide the liberty to file an appeal against orders under the Act.

B A Patil retires as HC Judge

Bengaluru: Justice BA Patil retired as Karnataka High Court judge on Tuesday. He was appointed additional judge of the High Court on November, 14, 2016, and became permanent on November 3, 2018. He was directly selected as District and Sessions Judge in 2002. Justice Patil obtained a law degree from the University Law College, Dharwad, in 1983 and enrolled as an advocate in the same year. He practised at Dharwad and obtained an LLM degree, and was a gold medallist. He briefly worked as part-time faculty member at law colleges and Karnatak University, Dharwad.

Only 500 delegates to attend RSS B'luru meet

SURESH 'Bhaiyyaji' Joshi was elected Sarkaryavah in 2018 and the three-year term ends this year. The Sarkaryavah is the only elected post in the RSS. Normally, 1,400 representatives across the country elect or endorse the candidate for general secretary. However, this year, due to pandemic, the number of delegates will be restricted to 500. The meeting will also discuss various social issues like education and health apart from organisational policies.

Top functionaries including Sarsanghchalak Mohan Bhagat, Bhayyaji Joshi, Dattatreya Hosabale, Dr Manmohan Vaidya, Dr Krishna Gopal, Suresh Soni, C R Mukunda and others will take part.

Wanted youth attacks police team, shot at

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A 22-year-old history-sheeter wanted in a case, was shot at and arrested by the Peenya police, after he allegedly attacked police personnel. The accused is Praveen, a resident of Raghavendranagar in Andhrahalli near Peenya.

In the early hours on Tuesday, police received information that Praveen was hiding in an under-construction building in Thippehalli. Around 4.30 am, a team led by sub-inspector Mayanna rushed to nab him when Praveen attacked head constable Rangaswamy with a machete. In self-defense, Mayanna shot at Praveen's leg after firing a warning shot, the police said, adding that three cases were registered against Praveen. On Monday, there were two similar incidents where police had opened fire at wanted criminals.

Cabbie held for stabbing mother, kin

Bengaluru: Three days ago, a cab driver allegedly stabbed his mother, sister-in-law and her three-year-old child in Madiwala on Saturday. The incident came to light on Tuesday after a CCTV footage showing the accused buying a knife went viral. The accused is Gopalakrishna (36), a resident of Dollars Colony in Madilwala.

The police also arrested his wife for being his accomplice and for hiding his intentions from the police. A senior police officer said around 8.30am on January 16, Gopalakrishna and his mother, Gunamma (60), had a squabble over property issues. In a fit of rage, he stabbed her and two others. Gopalakrishna tried to escape but the neighbours handed him over to the police. The injured were hospitalised and were later discharged on Monday. The police recorded their statements. ENS

Controversial book on Ram Mandir dropped

PEARL MARIA DSOUZA @Bengaluru

A controversial book on Ram Mandir was dropped from the list of books selected for purchase for public libraries in Karnataka, pending government approval. The decision was announced on Tuesday by the state-level Book Selection Committee (for public libraries) chaired by Dr Doddarange Gowda.

The committee, for the year 2018, had selected 'Rama Mandira Yeke Beda', a book by K S Bhagwan. The public had objected to it, with right-wing organisations protesting against the author for depicting Lord Ram in poor light, and claiming that Ram is not a God.

In 2018, as many as 10,571 books were selected for purchase. From September 2020 to December 2020, 10 meetings were held and the list was scrutinised. The committee finally selected 5,109 books.

Publishers and authors of books which were not selected, asked the committee to reconsider its decision. Another meeting was held on December 10, where the book by Bhagwan, published by Ladai Prakashana, Gadag, was taken up for reconsideration (after being tagged 'controversial' and dropped).

It was book number 4,062 of the 5,109 books being reconsidered. However, the committee blamed the lack of finances for dropping the book.

"The committee decided that the first 350 titles would be purchased through the Raja Ram Mohan Roy Trust Foundation, and 300 copies of each would be purchased. No government grants were available for purchase of the remaining books, hence there was no question of purchasing the book," the committee said.

Customs officer held at airport for carrying ₹75 lakh cash

ENS @ Bengaluru

A senior Customs officer from Chennai was caught by CISF personnel at Bengaluru airport for carrying ₹74.8 lakh cash in his hand baggage on Tuesday. The cash was seized and the officer was handed over to the ED for interrogation. Superintendent of Chennai Customs Irfan Ahmed Mohammed was on his way to board a flight to Lucknow, with his wife. "During screening, we found notes amounting to ₹74,81,500 in his hand baggage," an airport official said.

Airport police told TNIE that in addition to the cash, costly mobile phones and some gold jewellery were also found in the baggage. "Carrying a few valuables was not a serious issue, but carrying notes running into lakhs, without details of the source is illegal," he added.

₹10L cash flushed down

An attempt to flush down notes worth ₹10 lakh at the airport toilet was unsuccessful. An official said that as soon as the officer was caught, his wife headed to the washroom saying she was feeling unwell. "After she left the washroom, the place was searched by CISF staffers. They looked around the place and recovered notes totalling ₹10 lakh from the commode."

Jagan talks capital row with Shah

Appeals to Union Minister to ensure Centre approves revised cost of Polavaram project

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Vijayawada

CHIEF Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy called on Union Home Minister Amit Shah in New Delhi on Tuesday night and reportedly took up several pending issues related to the State. Among several issues, Jagan Mohan Reddy is said to have appealed to the Union Minister to ensure that the Centre approves the Revised Cost Estimates of Polavaram project to the tune of ₹55,656 crore at the 2017-18 price level index.

The Chief Minister, in his meeting lasting for more than an hour, reportedly sought the approval of the RCE and to release the funds as early as possible for completion of the project in time.

Andhra CM YS Jagan Mohan Reddy holds a review meeting on YSR Aasara and Jaganna Thodu schemes at CM'S camp office in Tadepalli on Tuesday | EXPRESS

Besides seeking the support and cooperation of the Centre for the three capitals decision aimed at ensuring inclusive growth of all the three regions of the state, sources said that Jagan also sought Shah to grant the coveted Special Category Status and to fulfill all other provisions mentioned in the AP State Reorganisation Act.

With the government proposing to have judicial capital at Kurnool, Jagan Mohan Reddy also wanted the Centre to relocate the High Court from Amaravati to Kurnool.

Sources said with the Parliament Budget Session slated to commence from January 29, the Chief Minister also sought allocation of more funds to Andhra Pradesh besides seeking the release of pending dues to the State. It is learnt that the Chief Minister once again appealed for the approval of the Centre to Disha Act passed by the State Government to punish those resorting to crime against women in a quick time.

With Jagan Mohan Reddy's visit to Delhi amidst the political heat generated in the State following the attacks on temples, it is learnt that the Chief Minister explained to the Union Minister about the political scenario in the state and the steps taken by his government to prevent attacks on temples.

EPS rules out Sasi's entry into AIADMK

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

CHIEF Minister Edappadi K Palaniswami on Tuesday categorically ruled out any possibility of VK Sasikala, the one-time confidante of former CM J Jayalalithaa, returning to the AIADMK. Sasikala is currently serving a four-year jail term in a disproportionate assets case in a Bengaluru jail, and is scheduled to be released in less than 10 days.

"There is no possibility of Sasikala returning to the AIADMK. She is not a member of the party now. The AIADMK has taken a decision on this issue and has been functioning accordingly," said Palaniswami. Responding to a question on TTV Dhinakaran, Sasikala's nephew, the Chief Minister said, "Until Amma (Jayalalithaa) was alive, he was not with the party. Amma had kept him away from the AIADMK for a long time, and he came to the fore only after her demise."

The Chief Minister was speaking to reporters after a meeting with Prime Minister Narendra Modi in New Delhi, where he is currently on a visit. He had also met Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Monday night. Palaniswami clarified that the meetings did not have a political flavour. "It is not the right time for that since there is ample time for the Assembly elections. I met both the leaders to discuss TN's growth and to seek relief assistance for farmers affected by rains," he said.

Palaniswami stated that he had invited the PM to lay foundation for new works in the State. "He has agreed to lay foundation for the Cauvery-Gundar river linking project, modernisation of the Grand Anicut canal project, and Bhavani river modernisation project," said the CM.

Seers chip in to build grand Ram temple

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

HEADS of prominent religious mutts and ashrams in Mysuru region have joined hands to make a generous contribution for the construction of Ram temple at Ayodhya. They also made a call to fight social evils like untouchability in Hindusim. The seers at a meet presided over by Shivarathri Deshikendra Swami at JSS Mutt felt that it is time to end social evils that will strengthen unity among Hindus.

VHP organising secretary Basavaraju said Ayodhya is the symbol of cultural and self-respect of Hindus and felt that the government after independence should have got back and constructed a mandir instead of appeasing others. He recalled that Saradar Patel constructed Somnath temple using public funds as per the wishes of Gandhiji and would have done the same in Kashi and other temples.

Announcing that Shri Ram Janmabhoomi Teerth Kshetra has decided not to accept government funds or from one individual for constructing Ram temple, he said they will reach out to 5 lakh villages, out of 6.3 lakh villages, with the help of saints and religious heads and there are plans to meet 60 per cent of Hindus to raise funds for the temple.

He said experts from IITs have joined hands to guide the construction and on use of materials so that the temple will have a minimum of 1,500 years of life.

Doyen of cancer care no more

SINDUJA JANE @ Chennai

RENOWNED oncologist Dr V Shanta, who helped thousands of people survive cancer, breathed her last at 3am, Tuesday. She was 94 years old. Dr Shanta, who was the chairperson of the Cancer Institute, Adyar, was one of the senior-most cancer specialists in the country. On Monday, she complained of discomfort and was rushed to the Apollo Hospital for treatment, where she breathed her last, a staff said.

Dr Shanta, who never married, is survived by her sister Susheela. The siblings lived in rooms built on the terrace of the Cancer Institute's old building in Gandhi Nagar.

Philosopher Vemana's birth anniversary observed

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE birth anniversary of philosopher Mahayogi Sri Vemana was celebrated at the High Point office at Basaveshwara Circle, Bengaluru by inaugurating Karnataka headquarters of the Hema-Vema Reddy Jana Sangh. Various leaders, including former minister Gali Janardhana Reddy, were present at the event. During the programme, seers of Reddy Samaj, Sri Shanthamalikarjuna Mahaswami of Hedaginamudra performed pooja to the portraits of Vemana and launched the programme. Lallesha Reddy, President, Hema-Vema Reddy Jana Sangha Karnataka and other office-bearers of the organisation were present.

Former Minister Gali Janardhan Reddy, who paid floral tribute to a portrait of Vemana, said that a plan for the mobilisation of the organisation in the coming days was ready and will be launched very soon. He said despite several hindrances due to the pandemic, the sangha is all set to work. The seer called upon people to adopt the philosophical ideals of Vemana and urged the community to be united and maintain harmony with the rest of the society and focus on the development.

Old sloth bear hiding in farmhouse rescued

MEERA BHARDWAJ @ Bengaluru

FROM Kadur scrublands to Kamlapur, an old sloth bear hiding for many days inside a farmhouse, finally found refuge in its last days. The female bear was rescued from Kadur range in Chikkamagaluru district and sent to Kamlapur zoo recently. The bear which was pretty hungry happily gobbled up on more than 50 watermelons and other fruits.

In the first week of January, this 18-year-old bear which strayed from Kadur range in search of easy food as it had lost all its teeth, happily came and settled down in the farmhouse owned by Biramma, a coconut farmer. The bear was old and injured and was in no condition either to hunt for food or be sent back to the forests.

The 18-year-old female bear was sent to Kamlapur zoo | EXPRESS

The rescue operations were mounted without tranquillizing the bear. With forest officials being informed, a team comprising Kadur RFO Tanuj Kumar, veterinarian Dr Pruthvi and others carried out the operation under the guidance of Chikkamagaluru territorial DCF N H Jagannath and ACF Muddanna. Finally, the old bear was rescued using the traditional net method. It had injuries on its back and it was given all the care and treatment for two days by the Basur Kaval anti-poaching camp staff before it was transported 260 km away to Kamlapur.

GABBA FORTRESS BREACH NO ABERRATION, THIS IS NEW INDIA

There is no universal adjective to describe this unique ensemble of young Indian cricketers. They are a bunch of rookies who would be chit-chatting in alleys if not playing on the most lethal of cricket grounds—The Gabba—against Australia. Five of the eleven had not made their Test debuts until this series. They are like a support cast to the well-established protagonists. It was poetic justice that the ball that rolled down the greens and across the rope flew off 23-year-old Rishabh Pant's bat. No visiting team goes to the Gabba and leaves it unscathed. But this Indian team did and it did this with a telling authority and a fair bit of gumption—far removed from the predictions of naysayers.

The beauty of Test cricket kept us intrigued and engaged with its compelling plot until the last minutes of a more than two-month long tour. Instead of burnout in the bubble, this bunch refused to surrender. Both physically and mentally. Writing off a team or player is always perilous. Even after that 36 all out in Adelaide and after Pant's dropped catches behind the stumps. Sport, like life, throws limitless possibilities at you with disdain. You just need to know which one to grab. The performance of the youth—Pant and newcomers Shubman Gill, Mohammed Siraj, Navdeep Saini, Washington Sundar and T Natarajan—was a reflection of the country's bench strength. That their contribution complemented the resilience embodied by Cheteshwar Pujara, whose body took a beating, and Ajinkya Rahane, who started the fightback with a fire-fighting 100 in Melbourne, is worthy of an Oscar-winning script.

The backroom boys—coach Ravi Shastri and his team— too need a pat on the back for bringing the boys from the brink after that 36 all out. The triumph epitomises the rise of Indian cricket, its sheer depth of reserves, never-say-die attitude and the willingness to take risks, something that has been imbibed in recent years. No Indian team has ever managed to come back after suffering a defeat like that lowest of lows in Adelaide. India won one, drew the next and despite being battered and bruised, won the last Test. This is not an aberration. This is new India.

POORER QUALITY JOBS ADD TO PEOPLE'S WOES

Recent data during the ongoing pandemic suggests that not only have jobs evaporated due to the economic freeze, people have also been forced to move to less productive and poorly paid alternatives. The sectoral break-up recently released by the Centre for Monitoring Indian Economy (CMIE) shows that while most segments of the economy suffered huge job losses, agriculture actually gained. From about 140 million employed in farm jobs in the March-June 2020 quarter, the number leapt to 158 million in the quarter ended 30 September 2020. It declined marginally in the October-December quarter to 154 million, but it was still 3.5% higher than the comparative quarter of the previous year. On the other hand, in the services sector, employment fell from 140 million to 128 million in the quarter ended September 2020.

Manufacturing similarly has been a big loser, with 12 million jobs disappearing from March to December 2020 and with little signs of recovery in the near term. These figures should have alarm bells ringing as it points to people moving from productive and well-paying jobs in retail trade, education, and travel and tourism to areas that require fewer skills like farm labour and the construction industry. Interestingly, real estate and construction too has seen a near-complete recovery of employment by December-end. The pandemic therefore has not only hit people with job losses, but for those holding jobs, it now means a lower quality of life.

Another area of concern is people giving up being part of the active labour force because of the drying up of jobs. Studying the trend over the last few years, economist Vinoj Abraham has found that after 2014, there has been an absolute decline in employment for perhaps the first time in independent India. Labour participation—or the size of the economy's active workforce—has actually fallen to 35% now from 46% before the November 2016 note ban crisis, according to CMIE. People dropping out and being forced to depend on their family, and the youth taking jobs below their station are adding to the fires in the economy. These are important signals the government cannot ignore.

The pandemic has kick-started a digital infodemic that has been as problematic as the virus itself. Misinformation about the vaccines now could spark another health crisis

MISINFORMATION AND FEAR ABOUT COVID VACCINES

DR DEBANJAN BANERJEE

Geriatric Psychiatrist, NIMHANS, Bengaluru

TAPAS RANJAN

The 2019 coronavirus pandemic recently completed its global anniversary. We have seen a year of unprecedented life changes, panic and chaos. After more than two million lives were claimed by the outbreak till date, the world is finally embracing the new normal with renewed hope. The hope of vaccines! Multiple nations across the world have initiated vaccination under emergency authorisation with the aim to effectively tackle the Covid-19 crisis. The emergency use approval granted by the US FDA to Pfizer and Moderna and by the UK regulator to three vaccines—Pfizer, Moderna and AstraZeneca—are based on interim safety and efficacy data from large phase 3 trials with an average follow-up of at least two months after the second dose. India, being one of the worst-hit nations during this pandemic, has also started its largest vaccination drive, with healthcare and other frontline workers along with older adults with medical conditions being the priority. Two vaccines have been approved in India: Pune-based Serum Institute's Covishield and Hyderabad-based Bharat Biotech's Covaxin. While the former has been tested for safety and efficacy in participants from both within and outside India, the latter is based on only phase 1 and 2 trials as of now. Both Pfizer and Moderna have reported an efficacy of nearly 95%, whereas the efficacy of the AstraZeneca vaccine is around 62%, considering both the doses.

Second wave of fear: These statistics apart, what has hit all of us parallel to the second wave of the pandemic is the new fear and panic related to vaccination. The global picture resembles that of a year ago when Covid-19 was first detected. Now we see a flurry of news, information, debate, discourse and publications on the pros and cons of vaccination. Suddenly, every other person I come across knows about the different phases of a vaccine trial, debates about efficacy, expresses doubt about the constituents of a vaccine, provides free suggestions about the "best" one to be administered and needless to say, indulges in endless social media discourse. Curiosity is but natural for the public, especially with an unprecedented illness and its prevention. Questions like, "Will the vaccine work, is it safe, when will I receive it, which one will I receive, can I choose not to be vaccinated," etc., are common and flooding the daily discussions now that the vaccination roll has begun. When asked about any of these, I humbly acknowledge that the questions are best put to an expert in the field, preferably a virologist, epidemiologist, infectious disease specialist or a researcher in ongoing vaccine development. The problem is, there are also a huge number of self-proclaimed experts, numbers rising by the day, who create false facts, propagate misinformation, snowball rumours and forward wrong claims on social media. Each of these actions has the potential to influence mass reaction to the vaccination drive and thereby public health on the face of an ongoing crisis.

Is this fear of vaccination specific to Covid-19? Of course not.

Anti-vaccination propaganda has been running for decades, supplemented by medical misinformation, disinformation, fake news and false claims that have affected major vaccination drives such as those for polio, BCG, measles and even the smallpox (which has been eradicated). Suspicion of and myths surrounding vaccines in general are also driving mistrust about a Covid-19 jab, while the growth of the anti-vaccine movement is largely facilitated by social media. The pandemic in general has kick-started a digital infodemic over the last year, which has been as problematic as the virus itself. Falsification of information related to the origins, source, symptoms, treatment and statistics about the infection has daily gone viral, adding to the social stigma, fear, panic and chaotic public reaction to this global stress. The Centre for Countering Digital Hate (CCDH) reported that anti-vax social media accounts have gained more than eight million followers since 2019. I am sure each of us have started receiving audio, video and text forwards of the so-called harmful effects of Covid-19 vaccination, irrespective of the manufacturer. On the other hand, some claim one vaccine is better than the other due to various personalised and predetermined propaganda. Some others speak about the speed of vaccine development, intricacies of trials, number of participants, etc., that are often pseudoscientific and not substantiated by original data. Misinformation always travels faster than facts. A report by King's College London and Ipsos MORI showed that one in three people have been exposed to anti-vax messages about the Covid vaccine. The global coronavirus crisis and focus on a potential vaccine as the only possible way to counteract its spread have undoubtedly added to the pre-existing anti-vaccination propaganda and medical misinformation surrounding it.

> Suddenly, every other person I come across knows about the different phases of a vaccine trial, debates about efficacy, expresses doubt about the constituents of a vaccine, provides free suggestions about the 'best' one and needless to say, indulges in endless social media discourse

Which vaccine is the best? Let us be frank about it: We do not know yet! It is not a magical solution. Immense amount of work is put in, and scientific and administrative resources are exhausted for vaccine development. The least we can do is respect this temper. Moreover, the process of vaccinating millions is much more challenging than the process of its development itself. It is indeed ironic to see heated discussions spanning political, socio-economic and personal perspectives that pit one vaccine against the other, making the general public all the more confused about what needs to be done. The same group of people who have been criticising the scientific community for failing to invent a preventive measure all these months are now sceptical about receiving it. We were so impatient in waiting for a vaccine a few months ago and now, when our country has started its rollout, we are worried about why it "could not wait for a few more days"!

The famous psychoanalyst Sigmund Freud was apt when he remarked, "The most challenging thing is to bring satisfaction to humankind as they might even doubt happiness." After months of relentless suffering, the global community is finally getting some hope. Isn't this what we all wanted? There is no obligation to take the vaccine, so each of us can agree to disagree in a democracy. While scientific scepticism is warranted, it should not lead to rumour-mongering. In today's fast-paced digital world, authentic information is almost always at our fingertips, should we seek it.

It is our choice: to take the vaccine, refrain from it, get infected with Covid-19, or run away from it for the rest of our lives, but let us not confuse others who have probably already made up their mind.

THE JOURNEY OF MY PRIVATE ONLINE DATA

ANURADHA GOYAL

Author and founder of IndiTales

WhatsApp's privacy policy update has suddenly brought the long overdue focus to data security. In a rush to switch, many people miss posing these questions: Will shifting to a new app really solve the problem? What stops Facebook or its competition from buying the next big app? Nothing. Apps that are free today will have to make money eventually. How else do they make money without using the data they collect and invest in storing while enabling us to converse as well as conduct business for free? Did our primary school teacher not tell us that there are no free lunches?

Google 'Data sellers in India', and you get paid ads selling you the data of high net worth individuals, car owners, doctors, students and of course those of employees of big organisations. Most databases come with lakhs of records while data records of mobile users range in crores. They promise to be sorted on various parameters like pin code, salary, etc. The price for simple data is as low as ₹3,000-8,000 and additional information such as my WhatsApp activity and DND (Do Not Disturb) status come with an extra fee.

I checked a few of these websites. All they have is a phone number or a contact form. They manage their own anonymity quite well. I clicked through their pages to see if any of them mentioned their sources of data or claimed it is legally sourced data. I could find none in the top Google results. Google is making money from these ads and has obviously failed to check the legal or ethical status of the businesses that it advertises.

No wonder I get a call every afternoon from random call centres of various banks or insurance companies on my DND registered numbers. Every time I ask them where they got my number from, the answer is: we have sources that we cannot disclose. I wondered if legal organisations can get away with these answers. Well, these are all outsourced contractors who can be disowned any moment.

I assume my internet usage patterns are still to make it to the mass market. It is probably available in the deep alleys of the dark net for a much higher price, assuring the buyers and sellers of privacy even as they disrobe my anonymity.

Next, I googled for 'Spyware for mobile phones'. Thankfully I landed on many legal apps that claim to be parental control software. Along with it came the stories where spyware has been used to track the digital activity of partners and competitors. Apps for as low as one dollar a day promise you complete anonymity as the data from the tracked mobile is shared with you every five minutes. It seems there is no legal framework to stop these apps from transmitting all activities on my phone to a third party, including my voice calls or anything that my phone can hear.

> Will shifting to a new app solve the problem? What stops Facebook or its competition from buying the next big app? Apps that are free today will have to make money eventually

The sources of most of these data would track back to our consents given by default to various social media or mobile apps. When do we have the time, inclination or the legal know-how to understand the fine print that silently takes our consent to use data when the eyes are fixated on freebies? Security breaches leading to data leaks have been reported by many major companies including social media platforms. Insiders handling large data in places like retail stores, banks and e-commerce platforms are obviously involved in the chain somewhere.

It goes without saying that regulators need to be more vigilant and proactive. Before that, they need to be better informed about technology curves and their potential repercussions. They are the reason why WhatsApp does not share European region data with Facebook, while in India, permission to share your data with its parent company is the necessary condition to use it. Having said that, we must remember this will always be a cat and mouse story between lawmakers and manipulators. Once a regulation restricts them, other loopholes or more advanced technologies will be found. The cycle will go on.

Ironically, a lot of unsolicited emails in my mailbox land up from various ministries of the Government of India. Where is the government or its appointed agencies sourcing my data from? If the answer is data that I voluntarily shared for things like Aadhaar, I still did not give them permission to intrude my mailbox. Is it not the indicator of lack of knowledge among the very people who have the power to make and implement laws?

The ease of connecting, negotiating, approving and closing deals on WhatsApp has killed email culture to a large extent. I hope this sudden focus on privacy norms would bring some mindfulness in our communications.

It's time we critically look at our own overcommunication. Do we really need to exchange so many images and unverified forwards? We rarely object to or restrict people in our networks whose only role is to forward everything they receive. Can we smartly and intelligently use the tools available to us for free or be ready to pay for them and our privacy? Think about it the next time you mindlessly forward that witty message.

A comeback for the ages

Hats off to the Indian team for its brilliant victory in the Test series against Australia. What a comeback after getting bundled out for 36 in the first Test. It was a team effort with Cheteshwar Pujara, Shubman Gill, Rishabh Pant, Rohit Sharma, Washington Sundar, Shardul Thakur, T Natarajan, Mohammed Siraj all contributing to the win in the final Test.

K R Kumar, Chennai

Won despite many injuries

It is an astounding victory since many frontline batsmen and bowlers could not play all the Tests due to injuries and other reasons. There were many debutants too. Winning the series despite such constraints is no joke.

Manoharan Muthuswamy, Chennai

Immense self-belief

Nobody gave India much of a chance, especially after the team lost most of its key players to injuries and also due to the formidable record of the opposition at Brisbane's Gabba. Hats off to our young team. Self-belief is a quality that works in your favour during adversity and this team displayed it in ample measure as it inched towards the target on the final day to win what has been a remarkable series of Test cricket.

C M Umanath, Kozhikode

Pant and Gill show

This was a fitting response to Australia's sledging. Kudos especially to Pant and Gill. By retaining the Border-Gavaskar Trophy, the team showed its mettle.

Abu M George, Pandalam

Conquering a fortress

Hats off to the cricket team for defeating Australia in its fortress Gabba. For an inexperienced team with not many star players, this feat was really marvellous. This win came after our players faced racial taunts and is a reward for the tolerance of the Indian team and the people.

Sravana Ramachandran, Chennai

Umpire's call?

The new players have done very well. India won the series after beginning it in a disastrous manner. Some issues with the decision review system were witnessed. Ball tracking is an imperfect science and the benefit of doubt should go to the batsman, not the umpire.

O P Swaminathan, Bengaluru

Siraj's road to success

It's always heartening to behold sportsmen come up trumps against odds (Speechless Siraj rises above cheers and jeers, Jan 19). Indian pacer Mohammed Siraj put bereavement, racial slurs and pressures of a foreign tour amidst a pandemic behind him to pick up five wickets at the Gabba to add to his kitty of 13 wickets in the series.

Dr George Jacob, Kochi

Battled racial abuse

It's terrific that India retained the Border-Gavaskar Trophy by beating the Australians on the Gabba ground where the hosts had not lost in 32 years. The players persevered even in the face of racial abuse against some of them.

Hullasa Behera, Bhubaneswar

Farewell Dr Shanta

Dr Shanta (94), chairperson of the Adyar Cancer Institute, passed away on Tuesday. She remained an assiduous warrior throughout her life against the deadly disease. A world-renowned oncologist, her name became synonymous with cancer treatment and she fully dedicated herself to the service of patients. Her departure is an irreparable loss to the nation and the medical world in particular.

Not scared of Modi, will continue to oppose three farm laws: Rahul

Congress leader says govt wants to hand over agri sector to three or four crony capitalists

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi and other party leaders release a booklet on farmers' stir in New Delhi on Tuesday | SHEKHAR YADAV

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

LAUNCHING a scathing attack on the Centre, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on Tuesday said the new farm laws are designed to "destroy" the agriculture sector and hand it over to three or four crony capitalists, asserting that the only solution to the farmers' issue is to repeal the Acts.

"The three new laws are designed to destroy Indian agriculture. How have they designed to do it, by destroying the mandi, by destroying the Essential Commodities Act and by making sure that no Indian farmer can go to court to protect himself and to me. It is a tragedy that this entire country is just watching this ridiculous show. It is a tragedy because it shows me that the country itself is not able to understand the depth of what is happening," Gandhi said at a press conference where he released a booklet highlighting the "plight" of farmers in the wake of the three farm laws.

Responding to a question about BJP president J P Nadda's remarks that he was distracting the farmers, the former Congress chief said he was not scared of Prime Minister Narendra Modi as he was a "clean person" and he would continue to fight alone even if no one sided with him.

"Is J P Nadda my professor that I am answerable to him. Who is he?... I am not scared of Modi or anyone. I am a clean person, and they cannot touch me. They can shoot me. I will stand alone even if everyone is standing on the other side but will fight as it is my religion," he said.

He said that even during the UPA government, the Congress stood with the farmers in Bhatta Parsaul.

"Our farmers are sitting outside in the cold, I don't know why Modi Ji thinks, this is something to be proud of. The whole world is looking and saying what is going on," the Congress leader said.

Pawar, Thackeray to take part in protest in Mumbai

Mumbai: Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray and NCP president Sharad Pawar will take part in a protest to be staged in Mumbai in support of the farmers' agitating against Centre's three new farm laws on borders of New Delhi, state Minister Nawab Malik said on Tuesday. Some farmers' organisations have planned to hold protests in Mumbai from January 23 to January 25. "Sharad Pawar will take part in the protest to be held at Azad Maidan (in south Mumbai) on January 25. The NCP has opposed the farm laws. The chief minister and leaders of the ruling MVA (Maha Vikas Aghadi) will also take part," said Malik, who is the national spokesperson of the NCP. Thousands of farmers from Nashik in Maharashtra had joined the ongoing protests at the borders of the national capital against the three new agricultural laws.

Inappropriate to raise issues by foreign MPs: Birla

New Delhi: Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla on Tuesday said that it's not appropriate for Parliaments to comment on laws passed by other countries. Birla made the remark at the virtual meeting of the Standing Committee of the Conference of the Speakers and Presiding Officers of the Commonwealth, indirectly referring to MPs of various countries raising the contentious farm laws in their House. "The Covid pandemic has affected the functioning of Parliaments across the world. Even during the pandemic, some important legislative businesses were transacted by the Lok Sabha...," Birla added. Notably, MPs in Canada, UK had spoken about the farm protests. Thirty-six British MPs had written United Kingdom foreign Secretary Dominic Raab, urging him to raise their concern with India over the farm protests.

'No change in our route of tractor rally on R-Day'

Chandigarh: Farm union leaders have told the Delhi Police that a peaceful tractor march and tableux depicting the lives of farmers will be taken out on the Outer Ring Road in the national capital. The unions said the police ited traffic and security constraints on the Outer Ring Road to request them for choosing an alternative route, but the proposal was turned down. "We told the police not to waste our time. We will carry out our tractor rally as per schedule. But we assured them that it will be peaceful and we will return to our demonstration sites," a farm leader said. A large number of tableuxs depicting the culture of different states will form the part of the parade and we are under construction," he said. Similarly, Swaraj India's Yogendra Yadav said the tractor parade will be taken out on the route which has already been planned before.

Opinions can change, says CJI; defends farm panel

NEW DELHI: A day before the Supreme Court is scheduled to hear the plea related to farmers' protest, Chief Justice of India S A Bobde remarked that person is not disqualified to be a member of a committee merely because he/she has previously expressed an opinion on the subject matter which is under consideration by that committee.

"There is a very peculiar lack of comprehension about constitution of a committee," said a three-judge bench, comprising CJI Bobde and Justices L Nageswara Rao and Vineet Saran.

"There is some confusion regarding the law. One person may have an opinion before being part of the committee, but his opinion can change. There is no way that such a person cannot be part of the committee," the CJI said.

Though the remarks were made during the hearing of a case pertaining to inefficiencies in criminal trial, it assumes significance as the SC had come under criticism not only from farmers but also political parties over the nomination of members to the committee that was set up to resolve the stalemate over the three farm laws.

The farmers have rejected the panel saying all the four members had backed the contentious laws. After the uproar, one of the members — Bhupinder Singh Mann —recused himself from the committee citing the prevailing sentiments and apprehensions amongst the farmers.

Congress wants to derail govt-farmers talks: BJP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE BJP on Tuesday accused the Congress of working to derail the ongoing talks between the Centre and farmers' unions, hitting back at Opposition party's leader Rahul Gandhi over his attack on the Narendra Modi government over farm laws and national security.

Senior BJP leader and Union minister Prakash Javadekar said the Congress does not want the talks to succeed and has resorted to obstructive tactics.

"The Congress is adopting the strategy of protest-obstacle. The presser of Gandhi shows the desperation of the Congress. The talks with the farmers continue and we are confident that it will succeed," said the Union Minister for Information and Broadcasting at the BJP headquarters.

BJP chief J P Nadda had early in the day posted a series of questions to Gandhi after the latter addressed a press conference to attack the government.

"When is the Rahul Gandhi and the Congress stop spreading falsehood on matters related to China? Can he refute that thousands of kms of areas, including the place stated by him in Arunachala Pradesh was gifted to China by none other than (former PM Jawahar Lal) Nehru?" asked Nadda in his tweets. Both Nadda and Javadekar reiterated that the Congress had promised in the party manifesto of steps to reform the agricultural marketing.

> The Congress is adopting the strategy of protest-obstacle. The presser of Gandhi shows the desperation of the Congress
>
> Prakash Javadekar, Union minister

Reacting to the unveiling of the book 'Kheti ka khoon' by Gandhi, Javadekar charged that the Congress has an apparent love for the word 'khoon (blood)'.

"Weren't the 1984 riots and the consequent massacre of Sikhs across the country khoon ki kheti (harvest of blood)," asked Javadekar.

Covid-19 vaccine hesitancy needs to end, says Centre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

LESS than expected number of healthcare workers turning up for Covid-19 vaccination has become a major worry for the Centre, top officials conceded on Tuesday.

"The whole world is clamouring for a vaccine. If we still decline, then it is a matter of sadness... We have to start non-Covid services. Those who are fortunate to receive the vaccine should not refuse it," said V K Paul, member (health), Niti Aayog, who also heads the national task force on Covid-19, at a briefing.

"A lot of efforts have gone into making the vaccines. If our healthcare workers, especially doctors and nurses are declining it (vaccination), then it's very upsetting," said Paul as he again sought to allay the fears regarding side-effects.

Making an impassioned appeal to healthcare workers to fulfill their "societal responsibility" by taking the shot, he said, "We never know what form this pandemic could take, how big it could get; so please get vaccinated."

So far, nearly 6.31 lakh people have taken the jabs which are being offered only to healthcare workers in the first phase due to limited supply.

Paul reiterated that concerns about serious side-effects were unfounded.

"If there is an adverse effect, there are all preparations in place. But let me assure you that adverse events are not even taking place on a significant scale," he said.

"I request them to get vaccinated and please be a role model, motivate others. This vaccine hesitancy needs to end," Paul underlined, adding inoculation was the only route that will "take us to the end of this calamity". The Centre aims to vaccinate 30 crore people by July, with a daily target of over 3 lakh. However, far lesser number of people has turned up to get the shots in the first four days.

Govt says recipients of Bharat Biotech jabs are being followed up actively

NEW DELHI: The Centre on Tuesday said that the key difference between the administration of Covishield and Covaxin is that the first group of recipients are being followed up only "passively" unlike more robust look out for adverse events in the case of the other vaccine.

Bharat Biotech's Covaxin is being used in India despite still being under Phase 3 trial, with the drug regulator mandating that the vaccine can only be used in "clinical trial mode".

> Why worry
>
> Covaxin is being used in India despite still being under Phase 3 trial, with the drug regulator mandating that the vaccine can only be used in "clinical trial mode"

To a media query, Union health secretary Rajesh Bhushan said while there is a robust mechanism in place to monitor adverse events following immunisation, there is another difference in the way the recipients are followed up in the case of two vaccines. In the case of Covishield, Bhushan said, recipients are advised to stay at vaccination centres for half an hour and report in case of uneasiness. For Covaxin, recipients are called everyday to check on their health updates.

"They are also asked to sign detailed forms on their health status for a week," Bhushan said. On being asked about who gets to decide on the use of Covishield and Covaxin, he said it was up to the states. "States decide which vaccine they want. The Centre delivers vaccines to states and then the respective government decides which vaccine centres will get how many vaccines."

India's active Covid-19 caseload has come down to 2 lakhs with only Kerala and Maharashtra registering over 50,000 cases, he said. ENS

Covaxin being used cautiously in first phase?

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

THE Centre appears to be taking a wait and watch approach on Covaxin going by its limited use in vaccination of healthcare workers in the first phase of the Covid immunisation drive so far.

As 110 million doses of Serum Institute of India's Covishield and 55 million doses of Bharat Biotech's Covaxin were ordered for the first phase of the nationwide drive, the numbers suggest that the two vaccines were to be used in a 2:1 ratio.

The Centre has said that all 1.65 crore doses of the two vaccines have been sent to the states for the first phase of the exercise. While Covishield was sent across India, Covaxin was dispatched to 12 states —Andhra Pradesh, Assam, Bihar, Delhi, Haryana, Karnataka, Maharashtra, Odisha, Rajasthan, Uttar Pradesh, Telangana and Tamil Nadu.

But officials in several states this newspaper checked with confirmed that they have each received only 20,000 doses of Covaxin to begin with.

"The supply of the vaccines is being totally controlled by the Centre and even though we have not been given an explanation, it looks like the Health ministry wants to see how the immunisation with this vaccine goes before launching it in a major way," said a senior Bihar official.

A health bureaucrat in Haryana too confirmed it. "Since Covaxin is being launched in clinical trial mode, the government wants to keep an eye on adverse events and that's why only a limited number of people will get it during this phase."

No more subsidy on Parliament canteen food

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

AHEAD of the Budget session of Parliament, Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla announced that food subsidies on canteens for the MPs have completely been withdrawn.

On the lines of the Monsoon session, the Rajya Sabha and the Lok Sabha will function for four hours in separate shifts, while the Question Hour and Zero Hour will be taken up by the two Houses.

The food subsidies on the canteens for the MPs roughly cost the exchequer ₹8 crore a year that now stand completely withdrawn.

Birla also said the management of the canteens is being handed over to the ITDC that had been run by the Northern Railways so far.

Officials in the Lok Sabha secretariat said more than the MPs, the Parliament staff may feel the pinch of the latest move since they stay put for long hours, while the lawmakers often leave for their residences at short distances from the Parliament to take lunch and dinner.

While the Upper House will function from 9 am to 2 pm, the Lower House will be in session between 4 pm and 9 pm. The Budget session is commencing from January 29, with the inaugural address by President Ram Nath Kovind to the joint session of the two Houses.

The Budget will be presented on February 1. On the lines of the Covid-19 protocols followed during the Monsoon session, the MPs will have to undertake the screening for the virus, with the facilities being arranged for the testing near their residences as well.

Incidentally, the Monsoon session of Parliament had been adjourned sine die before the scheduled time after increasing number of MPs had tested positive for the infection.

1,000 doses of vaccine get frozen, wasted in Assam

GUWAHATI: Assam's health department has sought an explanation from the authorities concerned after 1,000 doses of Covid-19 vaccines got frozen and wasted at the Silchar Medical College and Hospital in Cachar district.

The southern Assam district requires 98 doses a day and it had received 1,000 doses. It was learnt the entire consignment got frozen within hours after it was stored at the hospital. The vaccines, apparently taken from Guwahati, were allegedly kept way below the prescribed temperature level. Some officials in Cachar who refused to speak on record blamed refrigerators. Dr PK Roy is the in-charge of vaccination in the district. He was not available for comments. A health department official said the department had viewed the incident very seriously and would order a probe.

"They are initiating an enquiry," the official said, adding that a part of the vaccines usually gets wasted during handling, transportation, storage etc." ENS

15 labourers die as truck runs amok in Surat

Driver loses control after brushing against a cane-laden tractor; PM gives ₹2L exgratia

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mumbai

FIFTEEN migrant labourers sleeping by a roadside were crushed to death on Tuesday morning by a truck near Surat in Gujarat. The incident took place near Kosamba, around 60 km from Surat.

The truck ran over the sleeping labourers, including a one-year-old girl, on Kim-Mandvi road, killing 12 on the spot.

According to the local police, the injured labourers were taken to a nearby hospital. Three of the eight injured died during treatment. The truck driver reportedly lost control of the vehicle after it hit the sugarcane hanging out of a tractor trolley coming from the opposite direction.

"The truck's front windshield shattered on impact, which blocked the driver's sight. The vehicle then veered off the road and ran over the sleeping labourers," said police.

Surat superintendent of police Usha Rada said the driver, who was also injured, has been arrested and booked under sections of the IPC and Motor Vehicles Act. Apart from a 19-year-old from Madhya Pradesh, the rest were from Banswada in Rajasthan.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi announced an ex gratia of ₹2 lakh from the Prime Minister's National Relief Fund for the families of the victims and ₹50,000 each for the injured labourers. "The loss of lives due to a truck accident in Surat is tragic. My thoughts are with the bereaved families," Modi said.

Gujarat Chief Minister Vijay Rupani announced a compensation of ₹2 lakh for the victims' kin.

The Rajasthan government also announced financial assistance of ₹2 lakh each to the families of the deceased.

The deceased were identified as Rahul Mahida (19), Manisha Mahida (19), Vanita Mahida (17), Sangeeta Vasunia (27), Champa Panda (16), Naresh Panda (25), Rajila Mahida (25), Vikesh Mahida (27), Shakan Vasunia (21), Mukesh Mahida (25), Lila Mahida (22), Anita Mahida (40), Dilip Vasania (20), Shobha Vasania (23) and one-year-old girl Tejal Mahida.

Rahul seeks probe into Balakot strike information leak

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

DISCLOSING official secrets to a journalist is a criminal act, and those providing and receiving such information should be punished, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi said on Tuesday. He was referring to the transcripts of the purported WhatsApp chats between Republic TV editor-in-chief Arnab Goswami and ex-CEO of BARC Partho Dasgupta.

On allegations that Goswami was privy to the Balakot air strike beforehand, Gandhi said only five people — Prime Minister, Defence Minister, Home Minister, Air Force chief and National Security Advisor — were privy to the information.

"Information was with 4-5 people. In such missions, information is not given to even the pilot. That person (Goswami) received the information from one of these five. This is a criminal act. We will have to find out who did it, and then both will have to go to jail," he said while addressing a press conference.

The five who knew

On allegations that Goswami was privy to the Balakot air strike beforehand, Gandhi said only five people — PM, Defence Minister, Home Minister, Air Force chief and NSA — were privy to the information

Attacking Prime Minister Narendra Modi, the former Congress chief alleged the process to find out who passed the information will not start as the prime minister may himself have leaked the information. Questioning the patriotism of the BJP leadership, Rahul said that there was nothing patriotic about taking political mileage out of the strike.

"If Arnab Goswami knows, if it is on his WhatsApp, I assume the Pakistanis also know it. It is not a very big jump. It is a criminal act and investigation should begin," he said. On the purported chats doing rounds on social media, Gandhi said: "The distressing thing is that after the 2019 Pulwama attack, the journalist said that this is good for us. It reflects the mind of the prime minister that the death of 40 of our people is good as we will win the elections."

MAHA PLAN TO INVOKE OFFICIAL SECRETS ACT

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Maharashtra government would seek legal and expert opinion on whether Republic TV editor Arnab Goswami could be booked under the Official Secrets Act for disclosing sensitive information on Balakot strike three days before it took place. The government's decision follows the surfacing of a purported WhatsApp chat between ex-CEO of BARC and Arnab Goswami.

Maharashtra Home minister Anil Deshmukh said that they have taken a serious note of Arnab Goswami's chat. "We have decided to seek legal and expert opinion on whether Arnab Goswami can be booked and arrested under the Official Secrets Act for allegedly sharing classified military information. We cannot comprise on national security. We have to find out with who else he has shared the information. Besides, we need to trace the source of this crucial information, and whether it was limited to Arnab and Partho Dasgupta," Deshmukh said. Deshmukh said that the chats came into notice during the Mumbai police's probe into the alleged TRP scam.

Mamata ratchets up rhetoric, likens BJP to snake in Junglemahal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Kolkata

TRINAMOOL Congress chief Mamata Banerjee appealed to the voters at a rally in an erstwhile Red stronghold in Bengal to "kick out" the BJP whom she claimed was more dangerous than the Maoists.

The rally in Purulia was strategic given that the BJP had won all four Lok Sabha seats in Junglemahal, which is spread over Purulia, Bankura, Jhargam and West Midnapore districts, in 2019.

"BJP is more dangerous than Maoists. It is like a venomous snake which will finish you off in a single bite and consume everything that comes its way," Mamata said on Tuesday.

The analogy is being seen as a political gambit given the people in Junglemahal had seen Maoist violence a decade ago. A TMC insider said Mamata sought to deliver the message of ensuring peace in the region.

Accusing the BJP of misleading the people of Junglemahal, Mamata said the elected representatives were not seen in their constituencies. "Do they visit you? Do they work for you? Have they built roads? Have they brought water connections?... Before elections, they will be very sweet and after elections they won't care. This is what the BJP is all about. They only lie," she said. "Kick them (the BJP) out if they come to seek your vote. If they offer money, accept and reject them."

Mamata's Purulia rally came a day after she announced to contest from Nandigram, the epicentre of a farmers' movement that propelled her to power a decade ago. By choosing Nandigram, Mamata took the fight to the BJP's camp as her once trusted lieutenant Suvendu Adhikari comes from the region.

Love jihad ordinance: UP govt moves apex court

Lucknow: With a batch of petitions challenging the validity of the UP Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Ordinanace, 2020, pending at the Allahabad High Court, the government moved the Supreme Court seeking transfer of all such petitions. The move was made under Article 139 A of the Constitution on Tuesday. Allahabad HC had posted the matter for January 25. State's Additional Advocate General urged the Chief Justice of Allahabad HC to adjourn the matter as the apex court had taken cognizance of the issue

10 BJP nominess sail through to UP council

Lucknow: The rejection of the nomination papers of the lone independent candidate has cleared the decks for the unopposed election of 12 candidates for as many legislative council seats in Uttar Pradesh. Returning Officer BB Dubey said that official announcement on election of the 12 candidates – BJP (10) and SP (2) – would be made on Thursday, making voting slated for January 28 redundant. Thursday's announcement would be predicated on no candidate withdrawing their nomination by January 21.

Varavara Rao seeks bail on med grounds

MUMBAI: Poet-activist Varavara Rao's counsel on Tuesday requested the Bombay High Court to grant him bail on medical grounds as the Taloja Prison hospital in Navi Mumbai lacked infrastructure to treat him. Rao is an accused in the Elgar Parishad-Maoist link case and is currently admitted in a private hospital.

Senior advocate Anand Grover told a bench of Justices SS Shinde and Manish Pitale that Rao (81) is "hemodynamically stable and fit for discharge". Once discharged and shifted to the Taloja prison, Rao will require constant monitoring, for which the infrastructure at the Taloja prison hospital will be inadequate, Grover said. Rao is suffering from kidney failure and a host of other ailments for which he was being administered around 20 different medicines a day.

Besides his bail plea, the HC is also hearing a writ petition filed by Rao's wife, alleging a breach of his fundamental rights due to his continued incarceration.

More post-poll convulsions as Lone exits Gupkar alliance

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

A simmering disquiet in the People's Alliance for Gupkar Declaration (PAGD) finally spilled over with People's Conference (PC) pulling out on Tuesday. In a letter to PAGD chairman Farooq Abdullah explaining the reasons for snapping the ties, PC chairman Sajjad Gani Lone said the "breach of trust between partners" was "beyond remedy". Sajjad was the convener of the PAGD.

The PAGD, also known as Gupkar Alliance, was a tie up between NC, PDP, People's Conference, CPI, CPM, JKPM, and ANC. It was formed in October 2020 to fight for the restoration of Articles 370 and 35A, which were scrapped by the Centre on August 5, 2019.

"There has been a breach of trust between partners, which we believe is beyond remedy. The majority view in our party is that we should pull out of the alliance in an amicable manner rather than waiting for things to get messier. We henceforth will no longer be a part of the PAGD," wrote Sajjad, a former BJP ally.

He said the party is divorcing from the alliance, not its objectives. "We will continue to adhere to objectives that we set out with when this alliance was made. We will extend support on all issues which fall within the ambit of stated objectives," he said. The leaders of PC, especially influential Shia leader Imran Reza Ansari and party's senior vice chairman Abdul Gani Lone, were critical of alliance parties fielding proxies during the first-ever DDC polls in J&K. The Gupkar Alliance emerged as the single largest group with 110 seats, including PC's eight seats, while BJP emerged as single largest party with 75 seats.

The DDC election, he said, was politically very important as it was the first election post August 5. "It was less of an election, and more of an opportunity to send a strong political message. On the face of it, PAGD won these elections unambiguously," he added.

TRUST DEFICIT

Sajjad said trust between allying partners, who have been rivals all along, can be very elusive and extremely fragile. "But proxies have made it perpetually elusive." The alliance needed sacrifice on part of constituents, he said

Cong forges five-party grand alliance in Assam

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Guwahati

THE much-talked about grand alliance of opposition parties in Assam is taking shape, finally. Ending months of speculations, the Congress on Tuesday said it would forge an electoral alliance with minority-based All India United Democratic Front (AIUDF), three Left parties and regional Anchalik Gana Morcha.

"We have reached the decision after a lot of deliberations with the five parties. We have come together to oust the BJP from power," state Congress chief Ripun Bora said. The announcement was made in the presence of Chhattisgarh Chief Minister Bhupesh Waghel, AICC leader Mukul Wasnik, AICC Assam in-charge, Jitendra Singh and leaders of the five parties.

The three Left parties are CPI, CPI (M) and CPI (ML). The Congress appealed to newly-floated regional parties Asom Jatiya Parishad, floated by two students' bodies; and Raijor Dal, formed by 70 organisations; to join the grand alliance. Both were formed last year against the backdrop of Citizenship (Amendment) Act. Bora said the grand alliance would keep its doors open any anti-BJP party in the state.

The Congress had conceived the idea of grand alliance last year. Subsequently, a proposal was submitted to the party's high command.

Elections to the 126-member Assam Assembly are due by April-May.

Human-animal conflict claimed 63 lives last year

Human-wildlife conflict in Uttarakhand spiked in 2020, with 63 human lives lost to fatal encounters as compared to 58 in 2019. Data from the Uttarakhand forest department revealed that half of the deaths were caused by leopard attacks, which saw a significant spike in 2020. Out of the total 63, leopard attacks claimed 31 human lives in the hill state in 2020 as compared to 18 in 2019 while 15 people lost their lives due to snakebites. In 2019, 18 had died of snakebites. Attacks by elephant claimed 11 lives.

The announcement comes after Major General V S Ranade, NSG (IG Operations), met Uttarakhand DGP Ashok Kumar. The NSG commandos will be arriving for Mahakumbh mela in two phases with the first team reaching by February-end, while the second team will be arriving before the Shahi Snaan of Maha Shivratri scheduled on March 11. The NSG has given a go-ahead for the deployment of two NSG teams, comprising 50 commandos each. The state government will also be deployeing over 1,000 Kumbh force from Uttarakhand police and Provincial Armed Constabulary (PAC).

Tiger reserve's plea on train speed dismissed

The Indian Railways turned down Rajaji Tiger Reserve (RTR) administration's request to not raise the speed of trains passing through the reserve from 50 kmph to 100 kmph. The railways stated that the request was not 'feasible.' The officials of the RTR wrote to the railways on Friday again. Earlier, on January 7, the RTR administration had voiced its concerns on the decision to increase the speed of 18 pairs of trains plying between Haridwar and Dehradun on a 52-km track that passes through RTR. The request came after a spate of elephant deaths in the state.

Plan to set the benchmark in elderly care

Uttarakhand government is planning to launch mobile health care units to take care of over nine lakh elderly people in the state. A draft by the state social welfare department wants to offer healthcare services through mobile care units and physiotherapy. The objective of the initiative is to reach the remotest places of the hill state and provide better care. Officials said that each mobile unit will have equipment and staff for health checkup and physiotherapy to cover at least 400 elderly citizens every month. Uttarakhand is one of the safest states for senior citizens in the country, according to the National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB) data released last year. In year 2019, only six incidents of crime against elderly people were registered in Uttarakhand, according to the latest NCRB report.

Joe picks trans woman for key health post

WASHINGTON

US President-elect Joe Biden has tapped Pennsylvania Health Secretary Rachel Levine to be his assistant secretary of health, leaving her poised to become the first openly transgender federal official to be confirmed by the Senate.

A pediatrician and former Pennsylvania physician general, Levine was appointed to her current post by Democratic Gov. Tom Wolf in 2017, making her one of the few transgender people serving in elected or appointed positions nationwide.

She won past confirmation by the Republican-majority Pennsylvania Senate and has emerged as the public face of the state's response to the coronavirus pandemic.

A graduate of Harvard and of Tulane Medical School, Levine is president of the Association of State and Territorial Health Officials.

She's written in the past on the opioid crisis, medical marijuana, adolescent medicine, eating disorders and LGBTQ medicine.

Levine joins Biden's Health and Human Services secretary nominee Xavier Becerra, a Latino politician who rose from humble beginnings to serve in Congress. AP

Pompeo calls Uighur crackdown a genocide

WASHINGTON

US Secretary of State Mike Pompeo said Tuesday that China is committing genocide against the Uighurs and other mostly Muslim people, dramatically raising pressure on his last full day in office.

"I believe this genocide is ongoing, and that we are witnessing the systematic attempt to destroy Uighurs by the Chinese party-state," Pompeo said in a statement. "We will not remain silent. If the Chinese Communist Party is allowed to commit genocide and crimes against humanity against its own people, imagine what it will be emboldened to do to the free world, in the not-so-distant future," said the outgoing secretary of state, whose vociferous criticism of Beijing has been a hallmark of his tenure.

Biden's pick for top diplomat vows revival of frayed alliances

Says can outcompete China, quotes from Lincoln's paean to democracy

WASHINGTON

ANTONY Blinken, President-elect Joe Biden's choice to be secretary of state, will vow Tuesday that the United States will "outcompete" a rising China while reviving frayed alliances, in a sea change from Donald Trump's go-it-alone "America First" approach.

On the eve of Biden's inauguration, Blinken was set to say at his confirmation hearing that the United States will seek to remain the pre-eminent global power but renew cooperation on common challenges such as Covid-19 and climate change.

"America at its best still has a greater ability than any country on earth to mobilize others for the greater good," Blinken, a mild-mannered longtime aide to Biden, was to tell the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, according to his prepared remarks.

"We can outcompete China -- and remind the world that a government of the people, by the people, can deliver for its people," Blinken said, paraphrasing Abraham Lincoln's paean to democracy two weeks after a mob of Trump supporters ransacked the Capitol in hopes of overturning Biden's victory. The stepson of a Holocaust survivor who found refuge in the United States, Blinken, 58, is known for his passion on humanitarian causes.

He is expected to win Senate confirmation although Republicans have vowed to press him hard on his consulting work since leaving Barack Obama's administration four years ago.

In a sharp shift in tone from Trump's secretary of state Mike Pompeo -- who spoke of "swagger," "American exceptionalism" and global conflict with China -- Blinken said he would show "humility."

"Not one of the big challenges we face can be met by one country acting alone -- even one as powerful as the US," Blinken said.

"We can revitalize our core alliances – force multipliers of our influence around the world. Together, we are far better positioned to counter threats posed by Russia, Iran, and North Korea and to stand up for democracy and human rights."

Biden has promised to move swiftly after his inauguration at noon (1700 GMT) Wednesday to reverse some of Trump's most divisive policies. Biden has pledged to have the US rejoin the Paris climate agreement. AFP

Yellen pushes GOP on $1.9 tn relief package

Janet Yellen, President-elect Joe Biden's choice as Treasury secretary, said that Biden's administration would focus on winning quick passage of its $1.9 trillion pandemic relief plan, rejecting Republican arguments that the measure is too big given the size of US budget deficits. "More must be done," Yellen told the Senate.

Trump provoked Capitol mob: Mitch

The supporters of Donald Trump who attacked the US Capitol were "provoked" by the president and "fed lies," Senate Republican Majority Leader Mitch McConnell said Tuesday. "The mob was fed lies," the senator from Kentucky said. "They were provoked by the president and other powerful people.

European users exempt?

The Union Government's email to the Whatsapp CEO has raised queries on why European users have been exempted from the company's new privacy policy, while Indian users have been offered no choice

Respect Indian users' privacy

The IT ministry has told Whatsapp that the unilateral changes made by the company to its Terms of Service are not fair and acceptable and that it must respect Indian users' privacy

India seeks withdrawal of Whatsapp policy tweaks

Centre's communique asks for details on data sharing, user privacy

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

INDIA has come down heavily on Facebook-owned Whatsapp, objecting to the platform's "differential privacy policy" and seeking a withdrawal of the proposed changes.

In an emailed communication to Whatsapp CEO Will Cathcart, the Union Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (Meity) sought clarity from the firm regarding its data sharing practices, user confidentiality, and details on the entities with whom information is being shared. The email also stated that the "unilateral changes to the Terms of Service are not fair and acceptable" and that the firm must also respect the privacy of India's citizens.

India is Whatsapp's largest market with over 450 million users. It has also rolled out a payment service which clocked 0.81 million transactions in December 2021.

The Centre also objected to the "all-or-nothing approach" in its communique, pointing out that Whatsapp doesn't give users an option to opt out of the data sharing agreement. This "raises grave concerns regarding the implications for the choice and autonomy of Indian citizens," Meity said. The Centre questioned Whatsapp on the exemption granted to European countries from the new policy and noted that India's data protection bill is in the advanced stages, currently in front of a Joint Parliamentary Committee.

Experts have observed that Whataspp's new policy may not hold ground with the introduction of India's Data Protection Bill, since it envisages sharing of user data only with user consent.

IT minister Ravi Shankar Prasad too had, during the recent India Digital Summit, warned that while digital platforms were welcome to do business in India, the privacy of Indian users cannot be impinged upon.

Whatsapp has provoked strong criticism globally over updates to its privacy policy, which now stands deferred until May 16. The company has clarified that it has no access to personal data but any communication shared with business accounts will be shared with its parent firm Facebook in order to drive its marketing business.

Duty slabs to be reduced, duties hiked

JAYANTA ROY CHOWDHURY @ New Delhi

THE forthcoming budget is likely to reduce the number of import tax slabs and raise customs duty on a host of finished products and components ranging from batteries and electric vehicles to furniture, solar modules and smartphones. The move is part of the Centre's bid to encourage local production.

"Our aim all along has been to slap the highest duties on finished products, slightly lower duties on components, and the lowest on raw materials. We believe that guiding principle will be followed this year more aggressively as we wish to encourage domestic production," said Sumit Dutt Majumder, former Chairman, Central Board of Excise and Customs. Top finance ministry officials also confirmed that many items will see duties increased "to erase most inverted duty structures that exist." Inverted duty refers to higher taxes on inputs rather than on the finished product.

BUDGET 2021 RUN-UP

With India pushing for local manufacture of batteries, electronics, automobiles, textiles, telecom, solar modules, and special steel through a productivity-linked incentive scheme, the industries ministry has pointed out in internal notes to North Bloc that inverted duties, or in some cases low duties on components, are defeating attempts to attract investment into these areas.

"Certain other local industries such as furniture, toys, and aluminium are also suffering because our FTAs with ASEAN and other countries allow imports at very low duties...," an official added. Some 50-60 odd product lines, mostly components, will be impacted by duty hikes ranging from 2.5-10 per cent.

The Centre also wants to rationalise the number of duty slabs and aims to compress them to half-a-dozen or so this year. "Ultimately we will aim for just three to four slabs—one or two for finished products, one for intermediate goods, and one for raw materials," said a revenue department official working on the scheme.

Centre may introduce DBT system for fertiliser subsidies this Budget

ANURADHA SHUKLA @ New Delhi

STRUGGLING with a very high fertilizer subsidy, the Centre is considering implementing a direct benefit transfer (DBT) scheme for the sector.

"The Direct Benefit Transfer route is working well where it has been implemented. It has helped the government save money by plugging loopholes and ensured that money reaches genuine beneficiaries only. It was of great help during the Covid-19 period too, which is why the Centre is considering this for fertilizer subsidies as well. The proposal is under consideration and can be announced in the upcoming budget," a senior finance ministry official said.

Under the proposed scheme, farmers will be directly transferred the subsidy for fertilizer purchases through their bank accounts as it is done in the case of LPG subsidies. The government will use the database of the PM Kisan Scheme to transfer the money.

Under current practice, the government transfers subsidies to fertiliser companies while farmers purchase the product at a lower rate. However, subsidies are transferred only after internal verification against bills.

₹85,000-90,000 cr

Estimated fertiliser subsidy required for financial year 2021-22, according to ICRA

While the government complains of dubious bills, fertilizer companies complain of delayed payments which affects their liquidity.

In the Union Budget for 2020-21, the central government had allocated ₹71,309 crore towards fertiliser subsidies and, on top of that, had announced an additional ₹65,000 crore to clear the backlog of payments for fertilizer companies as part of the Aatmanirbhar Bharat relief package.

According to ratings agency ICRA, the subsidy requirement for FY22 is expected to be in the range of ₹85,000-90,000 crore. The official noted that the Commission for Agricultural Costs and Prices (CACP) has strongly recommended switching over to direct cash subsidies to farmers for fertilizer.

However, experts also note that it is as yet uncertain whether the government will go ahead with this proposal this year considering the ongoing farmers agitation.

CONCESSION

Adani to get Guwahati, T'puram & Jaipur airports

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Adani Group is all set to take over the operations of three airports—Jaipur, Guwahati and Thiruvananthapuram—for the next 50 years. The multinational conglomerate has signed the Concession Agreement with the Airports Authority of India (AAI) to operate these airports under the PPP mode, it said in a statement on Tuesday.

"We are pleased to inform you that Adani Jaipur International Airport Limited, Adani Guwahati International Airport Limited and Adani Thiruvananthapuram International Airport Limited, wholly-owned subsidiaries of the Company have signed the Concession Agreement on 19th January, 2021 with Airports Authority of India for the Operations. Management and development of Jaipur, Guwahati and Thiruvananthapuram Airports respectively," the statement said.

The development comes even as Adani is engaged in a legal tussle for the management of Thiruvananthapuram airport. According to reports, airport employees raised slogans in front of the Director's office on Tuesday against the takeover.

The Ahmadabad-based Adani Group had earlier emerged as the highest bidder for the operational takeover of six AAI airports: Lucknow, Mangalore, Ahmedabad, Jaipur, Guwahati and Thiruvananthapuram in February 2019. It has also signed an agreement to buy a 74 per cent stake in Mumbai International Airport Ltd (MIAL). The group has, in just two years, emerged as the second biggest airport operator in India.

HONG KONG

Q4 2020 UNEMPLOYMENT AT 16-YR HIGH

Hong Kong's seasonally adjusted unemployment rose to a 16-year high of 6.6% in Q4, 2020 as economic activity took a knock yet again due to a fresh bout of coronoavirus infections. In Q3, joblessness stood at 6.3%—the last time it peaked was in Q4, 2004 when this figure had hit 6.6%. The number of unemployed rose by about 1,500 to 245,800 in the three months ended in December, while the unemployment rate for the consumption and tourism-related sectors combined increased by 0.5% to 10.6% in Q4. For the food and beverage sector, it shot up to 13.8% from 13.1% in Q3. Protests in 2019, followed by the pandemic last year have battered the financial hub's economy, with forecasts pegging full year GDP to contract 6.1% in 2020.

SRI LANKA

CENTRAL BANK PUTS POLICY RATE ON HOLD

Sri Lanka's central bank kept key policy rates unchanged on Tuesday amid negative forward premiums in forex markets and a steady drain on forex reserves. Its currency has weakened sharply over the past few weeks, despite private credit picking up pace during the last quarter and growing at moderate levels. Between January 8 and 18, excess liquidity dropped from 283 billion rupees to 213 billion rupees with interventions seen in the forex markets. The central bank has been keeping rates low, with cuts in the corridor and outright injections, in order to monetize the deficit. As for inflation, it's likely to remain below the target of 4-6%, partly due to non-monetary factors. The 6% ceiling has been high enough to create a balance of payments crises in the past. Meanwhile, the central bank has decided to introduce priority sector lending targets for the MSME sector and estimates that the economy has contracted by 3.9% in 2020.

MALAYSIA

GOVERNMENT TO ROLL OUT ADDITIONAL STIMULUS

Malaysia will introduce $3.71 billion worth of additional stimulus measures to support its pandemic-hit economy, days after it declared a state of emergency and imposed a nationwide travel ban and lockdowns in the capital and five states. The new measures include an additional allocation to fund the procurement of supplies for frontline healthcare workers—including reagents, screening kits, and personal protective equipment. Banks will also extend a moratorium on loans and restructure for individuals and businesses, while the government will expedite disbursement of cash aid to low income families and individuals, and broaden the scope of a wage subsidy plan for employers. This is over and above the $80 billion stimulus it announced last November. The lockdown last March caused Malaysia's economy to contract for the first time in more than a decade.

BAD BANK PROPOSAL PAST ITS SELL-BY DATE

SUNITHA NATTI

THE bad bank proposal is back on the discussion table once again, but experts believe the concept is past its sell-by date and is unlikely to yield desirable results.

Several factors tell us why this could be an ill-timed move. For one, segregation of impaired assets without sufficient recapitalisation has insignificant impact, but given the prevailing circumstances, neither government funding nor capital raising from the market looks promising. Moreover, managerial incentives across banks are probably still not fully aligned to maximizing value through early recognition of bad loans, and given the high contribution of retail deposits, the funding stability of banks is uncorrelated with their financial performance. Lastly, corporate deleveraging has been quite slow and so is credit demand from better-rated, large wholesale borrowers.

"A bad bank would have been fruitful 3-4 years back, perhaps just after AQR, or earlier when stress was just building up and banks were looking to delay recognition for various reasons. Today, the banking system is relatively solid with slippages declining in the corporate sector and high NPA coverage ratios, which enable faster resolution. Setting up a bad bank today would aggregate, but not serve the purpose that we have observed in other markets," analysts at Kotak Institutional Equities noted in a recent report.

Following the Asian crisis, several countries had set up state-sponsored AMCs—including Indonesia, Malaysia, Korea, Spain, and Turkey. Some, like Indonesia, have even given them sweeping powers such as the right to transfer assets without borrowers' permission and seize debtor's assets through special administrative processes. One of the early movers is the US, with funding and budgetary support, and the country now commands a recovery rate of 87%. Korea's AMC has a recovery rate of 48%, while Malaysia has 58%.

But India's tryst with a bad bank, if it materializes, comes not during a period of elevated slippages but when slippages are near to normal and where the provision coverage ratio has improved to 70% from 40% in the past 3-4 years, according to Kotak. A successful bad bank, as noted by the Bank of International Settlements and the IMF, needs a critical mass of impaired assets, a robust legal framework for debt resolution, a clear exit strategy and timing of formation, and pricing of assets. Finally, as analysts at Kotak point out, there are instances of bad banks not achieving the desired objectives, which should also be given due attention.

OMC marketing margin squeezed as crude rises

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S oil marketing companies (OMC) have had a dream run over the past three quarters as far as their gross marketing margins are concerned. The sharp fall in crude oil prices over the summer due to the Covid-19 pandemic and the decision by the companies to hold retail prices unchanged citing demand destruction left them with record high marketing margins for the larger part of the previous year.

However, the recent rise in crude prices over the past few weeks and already record-high fuel prices have forced gross marketing margins below the ideal ₹3 per litre for the first time this financial year.

"Retail auto fuel prices in India have reached all-time highs, thus restricting gross marketing margins to ₹1.7-2.7/lit (v/s ₹4.5-5 per litre in 3QFY21). However, gross marketing margins in FY21 till date still average ₹6.5-7/lit (well above the long-term average of ~₹3/litre)," Motilal Oswal Financial Services said in a report recently.

However, this is unlikely to be a long-term problem for OMCs, analysts say. According to experts, crude oil prices are expected to hover in the range of $50-60/bbl as production from the US increases and OPEC+ production normalizes. They also do not expect excise duties—already at record highs—to be increased even further by the Centre.

Retail auto fuel prices in India have reached all-time highs, thus restricting gross marketing margins to ₹1.7-2.7/lit (v/s ₹4.5-5 per litre in 3QFY21)

Motilal Oswal Financial Services, Oil and Gas report

"In fact, the government has intervened at instances when retail prices have peaked. Thus, there is room to lower the excise duty from current levels if crude oil prices rise... We model gross marketing margins at ₹3.3 per litre for petrol and diesel over FY22-23E," analysts from Motilal Oswal noted in their recent research report, adding that "as crude oil prices stabilize, oil marketing companies would raise their gross marketing margins".

Amazon accelerator to help start-ups gain global reach

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

AMAZON has partnered with Startup India to launch an accelerator programme called Amazon Global Selling Propel (AGSP). The initiative is designed to provide global market access to Indian firms, Amazon said in a statement.

As part of the Startup Accelerator, Amazon said that it has constituted a mentorship board consisting of Amazon leaders from India and across the world, Venture Capital firms, and senior leaders from Startup India and Invest India, who will engage with emerging brands and provide them tailored resources, 1:1 mentorship on global demand patterns, and insights on building successful exports businesses through ecommerce.

"Amazon will also host open virtual mentorship sessions focused on peer learning by inviting veteran entrepreneurs and members from its mentorship board for startups, to network and learn from their existing ecosystem. The accelerator program will provide startups an opportunity to showcase their business proposition to partner VC firms—Sequoia Capital India and Fireside Ventures—and a chance to win a total equity free grant of $50,000 from Amazon," the e-tailer said.

"There are many promising, emerging brands that have the capability to become big and go global. This is a timely initiative which can prove a big stepping stone," said Deepak Bagla, MD & CEO, Invest India.

FLU SEASON

Bird flu scare threatens sales growth of QSR chains

SESA SEN @ New Delhi

THE spread of avian influenza, or bird flu, across ten Indian states is set to take a toll on the quick service restaurant (QSR) sector—at least during the month of January. Analysts say that the impact of the flu will be significant for chicken-focused players such as KFC (as was the case in China in 2013) while Pizza chains may fare relatively better.

"Even burger outlets, where core patty offerings are chicken-based (McDonalds or Burger King have 6-7 (chicken) burgers out of 17 each) will be impacted as sales of non-veg items will dip and the sourcing of chicken will become a challenge. We envisage same store sales growth—a measure of turnover in established outlets—of QSR chains in January to be impacted and continue to remain subdued till the outbreak is controlled," said analysts at Edelweiss Securities.

A KFC spokesperson said that the chain has "seen a drop in the sales momentum over the past few days". "However, it is difficult to attribute this impact on any particular development. Several factors as the ongoing protests, harsh winters in the north, among others are in play at present," the spokesperson noted.

While there is limited data on the impact of bird flu on QSRs in India, an analysis of poultry prices and consumption indicates that both decline immediately after an outbreak. Since the first recent case of bird flu was reported in Kerala in early December 2020, the consumption of chicken in many states has plunged 40-60 per cent, with prices falling 50 per cent over the previous year. Brokerage firm Crisil Ratings estimates that the flu has chopped off around 30 per cent of broiler chicken volumes, bringing down daily chicken demand in the country from 100 lakh kg in December 2020 to an estimated 70 lakh kg in January 2021. Additionally, wholesale prices of broiler chicken have crashed 20-30 per cent from ₹105-110 per kg in December to ₹80 per kg.

"Given this backdrop, overall revenue could decline 30-40 per cent in January 2021 due to a fall in realisations and volume," says CRISIL. The agency added that the impact of the current bird flu outbreak on associated industries will depend largely on its intensity and duration.

THE NEW INDIAN EXPRESS

This is one of the biggest moments of my life now. It's been a dream series. The team management always backs me and tells me, you are a match-winner and you have to go win the match for the team.

Rishabh Pant, India wicketkeeper-batsman

When he (Pant) doesn't keep well, people criticize him but he can help you win matches like these. Had he stuck around for some time in Sydney (drawn third Test), he could have won us that game as well. Feeling defeated is one thing but giving up is not in our vocabulary.

Ravi Shastri, India coach

Indian players celebrate after pulling off an historic three-wicket victory over Australia on the final day of the fourth Test at the Gabba, Brisbane, on Tuesday. Rishabh Pant was adjudged Man of the Match while Pat Cummins was Player of the Series | AP

A STANDING OVATION

Gill's 91, Pujara's gritty innings set the base as Pant's heroics help India breach Gabba, retain Border-Gavaskar Trophy with 2-1 series win

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

CHETESHWAR Pujara's stem guard is on the ground. It's come away from his helmet after another nasty delivery from Josh Hazlewood. It's been that sort of series for Pujara. He's already popped a few painkillers. Arms, helmet, ribs, fingers, shoulder, groin, thighs, you name an organ and he's probably been hit there. With Pujara hopping around and in discomfort, Australia sense an opening. He has copped so many blows that, at one point, the "broadcasters," according to The Australian, "showed a diagram of where each blow had landed, with little cricket balls superimposed on a photograph of the batsman."

But that's what separates Pujara from the rest. He is the king of the scrap and he's in the middle of the mother of all scraps. Even as he tries to put the stem guard back in place, the physio is giving him a concussion test.

While Pujara is soldiering on, tiring the bowlers, Shubman Gill is orchestrating an unlikely chase of 328 at the other end. He is playing a different Test in a different postcode. When he plays that backfoot punch through cover off Pat Cummins and Mitchell Starc, you wonder how he's just three matches old.

One shot, five minutes before lunch, is symbolic of his batsmanship. Starc pulls it short and wide outside off. Gill identifies this as a 'hit me ball'. There is one trigger movement before he uppercuts it for six over third man. It's Tendulkarine (think Akhtar at Centurion in 2003) in its execution.

Some of his other shots are so good the bowlers don't even bother sledging him, not even a stare. If he has shown anything in his nascent Test career, it's his comfort when dealing with the short ball. To re-emphasise that point, he pulls Starc for six, cuts him for four before pulling him for another four. All in back-to-back-to-back deliveries. It's haiku in whites and Gill is providing the oxygen to this run chase.

A waft outside off off Nathan Lyon finally removes Gill for 91, one of the finest recent knocks by an Indian opener in the fourth innings. What his innings has done is give India time to breathe, take stock, assess and keep playing normal cricket. 195 to get in just over 50 overs. To breach the Gabba, a place that hasn't been breached since 1988. So long ago eight of the 11 who started this Test for India weren't even born.

One of the eight — Rishabh Pant — has joined one of the three — Pujara. The setting is so surreal even the weather Gods are caught in two minds. At one point, the pitch is getting ample sunshine as well as rain.

On social media and elsewhere, Pant is a polarising figure. He fitness is an issue. He is not a keeper. He is not a batsman. He is a T20 player in the wrong sport. The vitriol about him is endless. But what he's is a young man who shows a lot of heart and desire. He's a walking bag of fire and ice. On Tuesday, that is on show. When Pujara went, he was on 34 from 84. After he was dismissed, he went yolo.

His next 55 comes in 54 balls. There are drives in the 'V', sweeps behind square, slogs against the spin over long on, a pull while losing his balance and T20-esque dinks over the keeper's head. It's like watching a kid play cricket with a controller. The assault, though, isn't lost on anyone.

In fact, it's infectious. At the other end, Washington Sundar is keen on having some fun of his own. Facing Cummins, the world's No 1 bowler, he hooks him for six. He follows that by going over slips, deliberately. Fifty from 48 has come down to 24 from 36.

Even if the finale produces two more Indian wickets — just the drama this GOAT series deserves — Pant stays till the end to see the chase home. It's fitting too that the winning runs came off Pant's blade off Hazlewood. He, and Australia, had run out of nasty deliveries.

Pujara, Gill and Pant had ensured that on what will surely go down as a red letter day in Indian cricketing history.

No instruction for Pant from dressing room

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

TEARS flowed in the dressing room, there were celebrations and the mood quickly changed into a party atmosphere. This series win came against all odds. When a full-strength Australia entered the ring to land blows, an unheralded India side landed a deadly knock-out punch. Nobody saw it coming. Not even the Indian dressing room.

When the day begun, the roadmap was clear for India. According to the think-tank, the plan was to bat out the day, enjoy the game and not think about the result. Last day pitches can be notorious and India's primary objective was to hold on to their wickets and see each session off without much flutter. If it was going to be a draw, so be it. A win was the last thing on their minds. Even if it was going to be a defeat, no issues.

But Shubman Gill and Rishabh Pant would have nothing of this. If the former kept getting a message or two from the dressing room, Pant was left on his own. Even at tea, there was no message that was conveyed to him by the management who preferred to leave him alone and not curb his natural game. According to a team official, it was only when he kept looking at the scoreboard did those in the dressing room realised he was pushing for victory.

Coach Ravi Shastri is not known to be an emotional man. Tuesday was different. He could not hold his tears as Pant scored the winning runs. "I got emotional. I am not someone who generally have tears in his eyes and even I just couldn't help. I had tears because this is unreal. What these guys have pulled off will go down in history as one of the greatest series ever played. When you look at the Covid situation and state of injuries and then to show the stomach for a fight, after being bowled out for 36 is unimaginable," Shastri said.

WHAT THEY SAID...

I don't know how to describe this victory, but I am really proud of all the boys. We showed character, attitude... especially after the Adelaide Test. We just promised not to think about results. I am just really proud of each and every individual.

Ajinkya Rahane, stand-in captain

What a win!!! Yesssss. To everyone who doubted us after Adelaide, stand up and take notice. Exemplary performance but the grit and determination was the standout for us the whole way. Well done to all the boys and the management.

Virat Kohli, India captain

What a Test match! The depth of Indian Cricket is scary.@RishabhPant17, sweet number 17. Well played young man. #testcricket at its very best

Ab de Villiers, former SA batsman

You don't just play & love test cricket for nothing. Brilliant game. Congratulations India on the win, & Australia for a great series! #Testcricket #AUSvIND

Sir Vivian Richards, former WI skipper

Every session we discovered a new hero. Every time we got hit, we stayed put & stood taller. We pushed boundaries of belief to play fearless but not careless cricket. Injuries & uncertainties were countered with poise & confidence. One of the greatest series wins! Congrats India.

Sachin Tendulkar, former India captain

Intriguing series of survival & revival

OPPORTUNITIES TO YOUNGSTERS

Even before the tour began, the Indian team management was keen on giving opportunities to youngsters. Shubman Gill, Navdeep Saini, Mohammed Siraj would have a role to play was never in doubt, but the mounting injury list meant two more players, who stayed back with the team as net bowlers — T Natarajan and Washington Sundar, made their debuts. Five players made their debut for India this tour, their highest since their first Test — six newcomers then — during the tour of England in 1996. Gill, Siraj and Washington showed they are here to stay.

STICKING TO PLAN

Over the recent years, India has gone on from a side dependent on batsmen to one that where its plans revolve around bowlers. Though Ishant Sharma and Bhuvneshwar Kumar were unavailable, injury to Mohammed Shami, Ravindra Jadeja, Umesh Yadav, Ravichandran Ashwin meant India were thin on bowling resources. But one thing was evident. They bowled to set plans with a strong leg-side field ensuring nothing came easy for the Aussies.

SENIOR PROS STEPPING UP

With Virat Kohli heading home after Adelaide debacle, stand-in captain Ajinkya Rahane had R Ashwin, Jasprit Bumrah and Rohit Sharma sharing the responsibilities. If Rahane's ton at MCG set the tone, Pujara brought solidity to the team. Ashwin came up with his best overseas show and Bumrah bowled his heart out until he broke down.

328 is India's third highest successful chase in Test cricket.

32 No of years it has taken for Australia to lose a Test at the Gabba. Last team to win was WI in 1988.

Kohli, Pandya & Ishant return for Eng Test series

NEW DELHI: Virat Kohli returned to lead India against England in the upcoming home Test series while the selectors also recalled all-rounder Hardik Pandya and pacer Ishant Sharma to bolster the squad, announced by the BCCI on Tuesday.

Squad: Virat Kohli (C), Rohit Sharma, Shubhman Gill, Cheteshwar Pujara, Mayank Agarwal, Ajinkya Rahane, Rishabh Pant, Wriddhiman Saha, Hardik Pandya, KL Rahul, Jasprit Bumrah, Ishant Sharma, Mohammed Siraj, Shardul Thakur, R Ashwin, Kuldeep Yadav, Washington Sundar and Axar Patel. Standby: KS Bharat, Abhimanyu Easwaran, Shahbaz Nadeem, Rahul Chahar and Priyank Panchal.

SMAT: Karnataka bag quarterfinal slot

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

KARNATAKA managed to squeeze into the quarterfinals of the Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy on Tuesday. They have secured that spot as one of the two best second placed team, alongside Himachal Pradesh, in the competition. Punjab, Tamil Nadu, Baroda, Rajasthan, Haryana and Bihar topped their respective groups, helping them qualify directly.

On Tuesday, Karnataka needed certain results to go in their favour. Haryana defeated Kerala, and a close clash between Madhya Pradesh and Services lowered the former's net run rate, which worked in Karnataka's favour. After this, it boiled down to the night game, where Rajasthan had to beat Saurashtra in the Elite Group D contest to ensure that the defending champions progress further. And it happened with Rajasthan registering an impressive 15-run win.

Kerala miss out on KO berth

The final day of the round robin stages witnessed few close contests. One of them being Haryana's victory over Kerala by four runs, resulting in the latter's exit. Haryana posted 198/6 from 20 overs. Despite Sanju Samson's 31-ball 51 and Sachin Baby's 36-ball 68, Kerala failed to cross the finish line.

Brief Scores: Delhi 192/5 in 20 ovs (Kshitiz Sharma 65 n.o) bt Puducherry 82 in 19.3 ovs (Shivank Vashisht 4/9). Haryana 198/6 in 20 ovs (Shivam Chauhan 59, Rahul Tewatia 41 n.o) bt Kerala 194/6 in 20 ovs (Sanju Samson 51, Baby 68). Andhra 154/8 in 20 ovs (Ricky Bhui 78) Mumbai 156/5 in 18.5 ovs (Sarfaraz Khan 53).

Two players test positive as pressure on organisers mounts up

AFP @Melbourne

TWO Australian Open tennis players have tested positive for the coronavirus, health officials said on Tuesday, in a new blow for the tournament which is facing a backlash from a wary public.

The unnamed players were among three new cases — a woman in her 20s and two men in their 30s — taking the tournament's cluster to seven, Victoria state's health authority said. More than 1,000 players and staff are in quarantine after arriving last week in Australia, which is largely coronavirus-free. Three of the 17 charter flights had positive cases on board.

The delayed Grand Slam has proved an enormous undertaking and is provoking disquiet among Australians, especially in host city Melbourne which emerged from a four-month lockdown in October. Player complaints about quarantine have raised hackles further and Australia's Nick Kyrgios led criticism of World No 1 Novak Djokovic for requesting improved conditions.

World No 13 Roberto Bautista Agut also told a TV station that quarantine was like prison "with wifi", calling the arrangements a "complete disaster". However, tournament organisers insisted most players accepted their isolation without complaint.

"Actually embarrassed to be a tennis player these days," tweeted Australia's Arina Rodionova, while two-time Australian Open winner Viktoria Azarenka asked her fellow competitors for "cooperation, understanding and empathy for the local community".

At least 72 players have been barred from leaving their rooms for two weeks.

A new variant of the coronavirus first identified in South Africa is more contagious than earlier versions, experts said on Monday, but there is no evidence that it is more deadly. Eapidemiologists say the new variant is 50 per cent more contagious.

More floods from rain belt shift

Climate change may alter rainfall patterns in south India leading to intensified flooding

CLIMATE

NEW DELHI: Future climate change will cause an uneven shifting of the tropical rain belt — a narrow band of heavy precipitation near the Earth's equator — leading to increased flooding in parts of India, a new study warns.

The study, published in the journal Nature Climate Change, examined computer simulations from 27 state-of-the-art climate models and measured the tropical rain belt's response to a future scenario in which greenhouse gas emissions continue to rise through the end of the current century.

According to the research, a northward shift of the tropical rain belt over eastern Africa and the Indian Ocean could result in "intensified flooding in southern India," and may impact global biodiversity and food security by 2100.

The scientists, including those from the University of California (UC) Irvine in the US, said this "sweeping shift" of the rain belt was disguised in previous studies that provided a global average of the influence of climate change.

Northward shift of tropical rain belt over Indian Ocean could result in floods

However, they said climate change caused the atmosphere to heat up by different amounts over Asia and the North Atlantic Ocean.

The current study highlighted the drastic alterations to come over future decades in India by isolating the response in the Eastern and Western Hemisphere zones.

"In Asia, projected reductions in aerosol emissions, glacier melting in the Himalayas and loss of snow cover in northern areas brought on by climate change will cause the atmosphere to heat up faster than in other regions," said study co-author James Randerson from UC Irvine.

"We know that the rain belt shifts toward this heating and that its northward movement in the Eastern Hemisphere is consistent with these expected impacts of climate change," Randerson said.

> In Asia, projected reductions in aerosol emissions, glacier melting in the Himalayas and loss of snow cover in northern areas brought on by climate change will cause the atmosphere to heat up faster than in other regions
>
> Study co-author James Randerson from UC Irvine

According to scientists, study combined the engineering approach of system's thinking with data analytics and climate science to reveal subtle manifestations of global warming on rainfall extremes.

"The complexity of the Earth system is daunting, with dependencies and feedback loops across many processes and scales," said co-author Efi Foufoula-Georgiou.

DEALING WITH MUTATIONS

The race against the virus that causes Covid-19 has taken a new turn: Mutations are rapidly popping up, and the longer it takes to vaccinate people, the more likely it is that a variant that can elude current tests, treatments and vaccines could emerge. A few pertinent questions and answers

MUTATIONS ON THE RISE

It's normal for viruses to acquire small changes or mutations in their genetic alphabet as they reproduce. Ones that help the virus flourish give it a competitive advantage and thus crowd out other versions

In March, just a couple months after the coronavirus was discovered in China, a mutation called D614G emerged that made it more likely to spread. It soon became the dominant version in the world

Now, after months of relative calm, "we've started to see some striking evolution" of the virus, biologist Trevor Bedford of the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center in Seattle wrote on Twitter last week. "The fact that we've observed three variants of concern emerge since September suggests that there are likely more to come"

HOW MANY HAVE BEEN IDENTIFIED?

One was first found in the United Kingdom and quickly became dominant in parts of England. It has now been reported in at least 30 countries, including the United States. Soon afterward, South Africa and Brazil reported new variants, and the main mutation in the version identified in Britain turned up on a different version that's been circulating in Ohio

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

That also suggests that travel restrictions might be ineffective. Because the US has so many cases, we can breed our own variants that are just as bad or worse as those in other countries

HOW CAN IT BE TREATED?

Some lab tests suggest the variants identified in South Africa and Brazil may be less susceptible to antibody drugs, antibody-rich blood from Covid survivors — both of which help people fight off the virus. Experts are encouraging development of multi-antibody treatments rather than single-antibody drugs to have more ways to target the virus

REINFECTION RISKS

Health officials also worry that if the virus changes enough, people might get Covid-19 a second time. Reinfection is rare, but Brazil already confirmed a case in someone with a new variant who had been sickened with a previous version several months earlier

WHAT TO DO?

Experts say it is impossible to eradicate the new variants entirely. Loyce Pace, who heads the nonprofit Global Health Council, said the same precautions scientists have been advising all along "still work and they still matter"

WHAT ABOUT VACCINES?

Current vaccines induce broad enough immune responses that they should remain effective, many scientists say. Enough genetic change eventually may require tweaking the vaccine formula, but "it's probably going to be on the order of years if we use the vaccine well rather than months," Dr Andrew Pavia of the University of Utah said recently

Bird flu in parts of Iraq

OUTBREAK

An outbreak of bird flu has killed tens of thousands of hens in a rural province north of Iraq's capital, decimating livelihoods overnight as authorities scramble to contain its spread. Near the town of Samarra, about 100 kilometres north of Baghdad, Haytham al-Hamash's coops have become graveyards. Masked workers step around a few live hens to pick out the dead birds lying on their sides, tossing them into the back of a truck with a loud thud. "Right now, chickens are dying and we can't do anything for them," Hamash told AFP. His coops have been surrounded by makeshift trenches to keep infected chickens from escaping, as veterinarians in white suits examine the remaining flock.

New way to stay active

LIFESTYLE

With pools and gyms closed under Covid-19 restrictions, a handful of Munich residents are challenging themselves with a new way to stay active — by swimming in the icy waters. "The Eisbach is one of the few places where you can still experience something a little crazy," chuckles Franz Mayr, a 35-year-old therapist who takes a dip every week in the stream through the heart of the Bavarian capital. His Instagram page "Munich Hot Springs", which shows bathers keeping fit in ice-cold waters, has racked up 1,700 followers. "With the swimming pools and sports halls closed, swimming in icy water is a way to set yourself a challenge, even with the pandemic," Mayr said.

Antibiotics research study

HEALTH

LONDON: Britain's Oxford University has received a donation of £100 million to research growing resistance to antibiotics, the university announced on Tuesday. The sum, from British chemicals multinational Ineos, is one of the largest donations given to Oxford University in its long history. The funding will be used to launch a new institute to combat the growing phenomenon of antimicrobial resistance (AMR), caused by the increasing exposure of animals and humans to the medicines which treat diseases caused by bacteria.

Increasing antibiotic resistance already causes 1.5 million excess deaths each year, the University of Oxford has said.

By 2050, up to 10 million deaths each year could be caused because antibiotics and other antimicrobial drugs are no longer effective against common diseases.

Oxford's vice-chancellor Professor Louise Richardson said the pandemic had shown the urgent need to deal with the "cataclysmic" threat posed to public health by antibiotic resistance. Vaccination in Brazil is beginning later than neighbours.

Oak to help fight climate change

ENVIRONMENT

Delband Rawanduzi spoke softly to her oak seedlings, as if willing them to grow fast and repopulate forests in Iraqi Kurdistan depleted by war, illegal logging and fires. Over the next five years, the 26-year-old aims to plant one million oaks — resilient trees that can endure both the cold of northern Iraq and the dry spells. Her plan is taking root in her native Kurdistan. In a pilot project last year "we planted 2,000 oak trees. And in the upcoming autumn we will plant 80,000," said Rawanduzi. She has mobilised visitors and shepherds who collect oak seeds from the mountains, which are then planted in two greenhouses donated by a private university in the Kurdish regional capital of Arbil. Once the young seedlings grow into a saplings, they are re-planted in mountain areas selected by the Kurdish agriculture ministry. And to ensure the oaks will thrive, Rawanduzi is winning over several sponsors who are asked to donate 1,000 Iraqi dinars per tree. "This project is not about planting trees only," said Rawanduzi. "It's a response to climate change threats and an effort to promote ecosystems and create a culture among people to contribute to a healthy climate."

One in eight in England have had Covid

HEALTH

LONDON: An estimated 12 per cent of people in England had been infected with coronavirus by December last year, up from nine per cent in November, according to official antibody data released Tuesday.

One in 10 people in Wales, one in 13 in Northern Ireland and one in 11 in Scotland were also estimated to have caught the virus, according analysis of random blood test results published by the Office for National Statistics (ONS).

The UK is gripped by its third and deadliest wave of the virus, blamed on a new variant believed to be highly infectious. Health chiefs have warned intensive care units risk being overwhelmed by the surge in cases that has already led to the country suffering record numbers of daily deaths. Overall mortality for the week ending January 8 was 45 per cent higher than the five-year average, according to the ONS, although the official statistics body cautioned that the data could be skewed by uneven reporting over the holiday period.

WHO, China too slow in response to virus

HEALTH

GENEVA: A panel of experts commissioned by the World Health Organisation (WHO) has criticised China and other countries for not moving to stem the initial outbreak of the coronavirus earlier and questioned whether the UN health agency should have labelled it a pandemic sooner.

In a report issued Monday, the panel led by former Liberian President Ellen Johnson Sirleaf and former New Zealand Prime Minister Helen Clark said there were "lost opportunities to apply basic public health measures at the earliest opportunity" and that Chinese authorities could have applied their efforts "more forcefully" in January shortly after the coronavirus began sickening clusters of people.

"The reality is that only a minority of countries took full advantage of the information available to them to respond to the evidence of an emerging pandemic," the panel said.

The experts also wondered why WHO did not declare a global public health emergency sooner. The UN health agency convened its emergency committee on January 22, but did not characterize the emerging pandemic as an international emergency until a week later. At the time, WHO said its expert committee was divided on whether a global emergency should be declared.

"One more question is whether it would have helped if WHO used the word pandemic earlier than it did," the panel said. WHO did not describe the Covid-19 outbreak as a pandemic until March 11, weeks after the virus had begun causing explosive outbrea ks in numerous continents.

China sees surge

Meanwhile, China was dealing with coronavirus outbreaks across its frigid northeast on Tuesday, prompting additional lockdowns and travel bans ahead of next month's Lunar New Year.

The country reported another 118 cases on Tuesday, with 43 of those in the province of Jilin. Hebei province just outside Beijing saw another 35 cases, while Heilongjiang province bordering Russia reported 27 new cases. Beijing, where some residential communities and outlying villages have been placed under lockdown, reported just one new case.

PANDEMIC IMPACT

Oldest city in the Americas under threat of destruction from squatter invasions

ARCHAEOLOGY

CARAL: Having survived for 5,000 years, the oldest archeological site in the Americas is under threat from squatters claiming the coronavirus pandemic has left them with no other option but to occupy the sacred city.

The situation has become so bad that archeologist Ruth Shady, who discovered the Caral site in Peru, has been threatened with death if she doesn't abandon investigating its treasures.

Archeologists told an AFP team visiting Caral that squatter invasions and destruction began in March when the pandemic forced a nationwide lockdown. "There are people who come and invade this site, which is state property, and they use it to plant," archeologist Daniel Mayta told AFP. "It's hugely harmful because they're destroying 5,000-year-old cultural evidence."

Caral is situated in the valley of the Supe river some 182 kilometers north of the capital Lima and 20km from the Pacific Ocean to the west. Developed between 3,000 and 1,800 BC in an arid desert, Caral is the cradle of civilisation in the Americas. Its people were contemporaries of Pharaonic Egypt and the great Mesopotamian civilisations.

It pre-dates the far better known Inca empire by 45 centuries. None of that mattered to the squatters, though, who took advantage of the minimal police surveillance during 107 days of lockdown to take over 10 hectares of the Chupacigarro archeological site and plant avocados, fruit trees and lima beans. "The families don't want to leave," said Mayta, 36. "We explained to them that this site is a (UNESCO) World Heritage site and what they're doing is serious and could see them go to jail."

Death threats

Shady is the director of the Caral archeological zone and has been managing the investigations since 1996 when excavations began. She says that land traffickers — who occupy state or protected land illegally to sell it for private gain — are behind the invasions.

The pandemic in Peru is threatening the 5,000-year-old citadel | AFP

"We're receiving threats from people who are taking advantage of the pandemic to occupy archeological sites and invade them to establish huts and till the land with machinery ... they destroy everything they come across," said Shady.

"One day they called the lawyer who works with us and told him they were going to kill him with me and bury us five meters underground" if the archeological work continued at the site.

Shady, 74, has spent the last quarter of a century in Caral trying to bring back to life the social history and legacy of the civilisation, such as how the construction techniques they used resisted earthquakes. "These structures up to five thousand years old have remained stable up to the present and structural engineers from Peru and Japan will apply that technology," said Shady.

The Caral inhabitants understood that they lived in seismic territory. Their structures had baskets filled with stones at the base that cushioned the movement of the ground and prevented the construction from collapsing.

We outplayed one of the best teams– Australia. With very little experience and many reputed names missing from the team, this was one of the biggest victories. Since most of them are from the India A series, it is a good training ground for international matches. Siraj showed some good bowling skills. The game was nothing short of a thriller with a script that could not have been better written.

GAME CHANGER

Tuesday saw a historic win when India beat Australia at the Gabba. It was nothing short of a treat to watch the young guns playing, says the city's cricketing fraternity

EXPRESS FEATURES

It was a match to be witnessed when the Indian cricket team beat Australia. The historic 2-1 Test series win of India against Australia, at the Gabba, made for a nail-biting thriller. Despite names like Jasprit Bumrah, Hanuma Vihari, and Ravichandran Ashwin not being part of the last match, the young guns of team India emerged victorious, and how! Rishabh Pant led the chase with unbeaten 89, while Shubman Gill scored 91 in the fourth Test at Brisbane. People from the cricketing world in the city cannot stop showering praises for this win. Bengaluru cricketers shares their sentiments here.

It was a fabulous victory for team India. It surely goes down in history. Players out in the middle showed a lot of character, grit and determination. Shubman Gill and Rishabh Pant showed a never-say-die spirit. Their lasting innings got us the match against Australia. It was Pant who turned out to be a revelation in the whole line-up.

— PV SHASHIKANTH, former Karnataka Ranji captain & head coach

The fact that almost a third string side was able to come back after such a heartbreak in the first Test, the performance was impeccable. It shows the importance of preparation and having all bases covered. The injuries, however, are a matter of concern and the support staff might want to ponder over that during the debriefing. Kudos to the India A programme that's put in the hard yards over the last few years. If not for that, Indians would have had a tough time in the fourth Test.

- UTPAL NADIGER, former Ranji player

In spite of not winning the first match of the series and not having a very good start, it turned out to be a historic win for India. With many players like Jasprit Bumrah, Mohammed Shami, Ravichandran Ashwin, Hanuma Vihari and Ravindra Jadeja getting injured during the tour, the team showed incredible character to come back and win the series. On the final day of the Test match, Gill, Pujara and Rishabh Pant led India to one of their greatest victories. Pant backed himself and played his shots with confidence which made the difference. Not to forget Siraj's bowling efforts, and Shardul, Natarajan and Washington Sundar's contribution to Tuesday's victory.

— BN YASHWANT, Swastic Union Cricket Club-2, U-19

It was outstanding, the way India performed at the Gabba. Going ahead and winning the series against a strong team like Australia, without big names like Virat Kohli shows their mental strength. Being in a place like this is always a cause for nervousness, but it's about how you overcome it. Even the pitch was changing, but most of the batsmen managed to stay their ground. It would have been easier for them to draw the match but they took the risk and won the match too.

While countries closed in on each other, an outward expansion took place in the online world, making Indian dance forms more accessible to foreign nationals

STEPPING IN A NEW DIRECTION

It may be two years since Sofia Ronshina came across an Indian classical dance performance but the memory is strong with her. The 13-year-old from Voronezh, Russia, saw the performance at the Indian Dance Fest in Moscow and was fascinated. Now, in 2021, she is well on her way to learning Kuchipudi from Bengaluru-based dancer Vishnu Narayan. "During quarantine, my Bollywood dance teacher here was learning Kuchipudi online from an Indian. I hadn't tried virtual classes so I was nervous, I thought classical dance might be difficult," says Ronshina, who was finally able to learn more about mudras.

It's been over a year since SARS-CoV-2 brought the world to a standstill. But while countries closed in on each other, a similar outward expansion took place online – where a new world of opportunities was opened, making Indian dance forms more accessible to foreign nationals. Simran Godhwani, founder of Krshala Dance Theatre, was surprised when someone from Sweden reached out to her for Kathak lessons, and believes Bollywood might have a role to play. It certainly did in Marta Musial's discovery of Indian dance in 2005. Five years later, the Polish national even came to India to learn Kathak but was never able to visit again. Then, in 2020, she enrolled for an online course conducted by Bengaluru-based danseuse Nirupama Rajendra. Over two months, 33-year-old Musial was able to learn the fundamentals of Natyashastra's movement vocabulary. "I would have loved to come to India to learn but online training was the next best option," she says.

Sofia Ronshina

While internet connectivity is a challenge, time zones proved to be the bigger hurdle. Nirupama Rajendra says, "Classes for Australia and UK students were held together, where evening for the former meant afternoon for the latter. Weekend nights in India were reserved for those in USA (their morning) and UK (their afternoon)."

Vishnu Narayan, who taught Ronshina and six other Russians, says language was not a problem since he has spent some years in Russia. While he conducts the regular classes, his teacher, Deepa Narayan, founder of Kuchipudi Parampara Foundation Trust, would step sometimes to check the progress. Vishnu, an initial sceptic of online learning, says, "I would travel to Russia once or twice a year to conduct classes but now, my students don't have to wait. They practise more too."

Godhwani too finds the enthusiasm shown by foreigners to be heartwarming. Indian classical art forms, after all, are just as much stories as dance. "Indians already know about characters from epics. But international students are curious and listen more closely. That's a welcome change for me."

I wanted to start 2021 with hope, beauty, and possibility. Through this show, I explore concepts of the afterlife, apocalypse and utopia, floods, and different endings and beginnings

Shilo Shiv Suleman, artist

City-based artist Shilo Shiv Suleman's new works, which explore concepts of afterlife, apocalypse and more, are a reminder of the cyclic nature of life

Art for the times

EXPRESS FEATURES

The year 2020 felt like resurrection for many, where every aspect of life fell apart and had to be pieced back together again. "But the truth is our world has ended many times and begun again. This inspired my new works," says city-based artist Shilo Shiv Suleman. Her new show is called 'Reincarnate: We meet here in the Afterlife' and is currently on display at the Mumbai Gallery Weekend '21. Made over a span of two months, the works feature paintings, sculptures and poetic love letters. "I wanted to start 2021 with hope, beauty, possibility and a reminder about the cyclic nature our lives. Through this show, I explore concepts of the afterlife, apocalypse and utopia, floods, and different endings and beginnings," says Suleman.

The 10 paintings and 25 sculptures explore different mediums like acrylic and oil on canvas, brass shaping and gold leafing on archival paper. The works are elemental: Soil, wind, fire and water. "I explore the elements that make us. Soil is an invocation of how we return to earth after life and the comfort of roots growing through our rib cages. Wind explores the feeling of ancient recognition when we fall in love, this feeling that lovers go from one lifetime to another together trying to find their way back into an embrace," she says, adding how this section also showcases love letters hand painted in gold. "It's like lovers who create a magical shine of love because love is sacred and precious to me," she adds. The fire section showcases an installation – Picking up the pieces of myself – which has been inspired by the story of Sati's body being scattered across different parts of India. Here, 21 sculptures have been cast on Suleman's body and displayed across the room. "It stands as a metaphor for how many times we have broken down and brought ourselves together again," she says, adding that the last room, dedicated to water, has sculptures inspired by Matsya and flood stories.

The creation process also taught Suleman how she doesn't like to be locked up. "I thrive on community, conversation and chaos. Everything may have fallen apart last year but today, we find the courage to start again and again."

While the exhibition is currently on display in Mumbai, Suleman is working on converting it into a virtual showcase, while also sharing snippets on her Instagram handle @shiloshivsuleman.

FIT BIT

DANDAYAMANA DHANURASANA

(STANDING BOW POSE)

In Sanskrit, 'danda' means 'stick' or 'staff', 'yamana' means 'balancing', 'dhanura' means 'bow' and 'asana' means 'pose'. It is an advanced variation standing balance that incorporates a backbend. It requires strength and helps to build determination, focus and patience. It is associated with opening the Anahata (heart) chakra, which when open, increases the flow of prana and helps the yogi feel more open, loving and connected with all beings. It is a very comprehensive posture, improving the flexibility and strength of most of the body's muscles.

STEPS

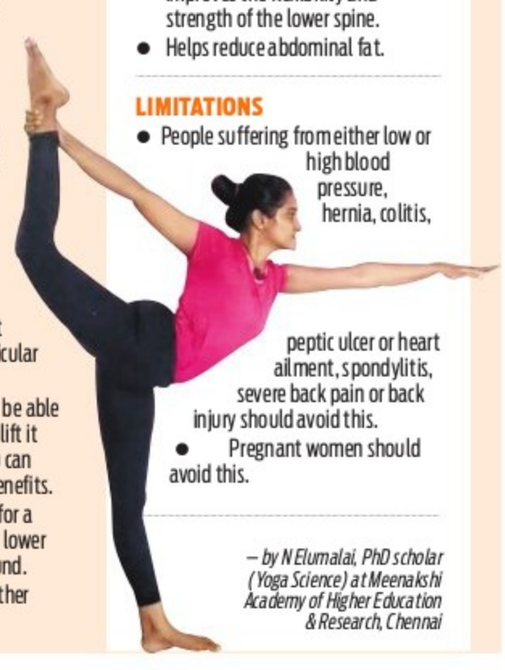
- Stand with your feet together.
- Bend your right leg so that your heel moves towards your buttocks.
- Use your right arm to grab the raised foot behind your back. Grab it with all your fingers, from the inner side, around ankle.
- Extend your left arm upwards and point at the ceiling.
- Hold this position for 10-15 seconds or as long as comfortable.
- Then slowly begin to bend forward at the hips.
- The leg you are standing on must remain straight at all times, and you must never let go of your raised leg.
- The ultimate goal is to lift your arm so high that it becomes perpendicular to the floor.
- Beginners will not be able to achieve this, so lift it just as high as you can and reap all the benefits.
- Hold the position for a while, then slowly lower the leg to the ground.
- Repeat with the other leg.

BENEFITS

- Stimulates the cardiovascular system.
- Increases blood circulation to the heart and lungs.
- Helps open diaphragm and shoulder joints.
- Helps with frozen shoulder conditions.
- Improves the elasticity of the spine.
- Improves strength and balance, firming the abdominal wall and upper thighs while also tightening the upper arms, hips and buttocks.
- Increases the size and elasticity of the rib cage and lungs and improves the flexibility and strength of the lower spine.
- Helps reduce abdominal fat.

LIMITATIONS

- People suffering from either low or high blood pressure, hernia, colitis, peptic ulcer or heart ailment, spondylitis, severe back pain or back injury should avoid this.
- Pregnant women should avoid this.



– by N Elumalai, PhD scholar (Yoga Science) at Meenakshi Academy of Higher Education & Research, Chennai

The Last Queen

Author: Chitra Banerjee Divakaruni

Pages: 354

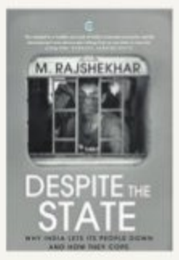
Daughter of the royal kennel keeper, the beautiful Jindan Kaur went on to become Maharaja Ranjit Singh's youngest and last queen; his favourite. She became regent when her son Dalip, barely six years old, unexpectedly inherited the throne. Sharp-eyed, stubborn, passionate, and dedicated to protecting her son's heritage, Jindan distrusted the British and fought hard to keep them from annexing Punjab. Defying tradition, she stepped out of the zenana, cast aside the veil and conducted state business in public. Addressing her Khalsa troops herself, she inspired her men in two wars against the 'firangs'. Her power and influence were so formidable that the British, fearing an uprising, robbed the rebel queen of everything she had, including her son. She was imprisoned and exiled. But that did not crush her indomitable will. An exquisite love story of a king and a commoner, a cautionary tale about loyalty and betrayal, and a powerful parable of the indestructible bond between mother and child, Chitra Banerjee Divakaruni's novel brings alive one of the most fearless women of the nineteenth century, an inspiration for our times.



Despite the State: Why India Lets Its People Down and How They Cope

Author: M Rajshekhar

Pages: 289

The story of democratic failure is usually read at the level of the nation, while the primary bulwarks of democratic functioning – the states – get overlooked. This is a tale of India's states, of why they build schools but do not staff them with teachers; favour a handful of companies so much that others slip into losses; wage water wars with their neighbours while allowing rampant sand mining and groundwater extraction; harness citizens' right to vote but brutally crack down on their right to dissent. Reporting from six states over thirty-three months, the investigative journalist delivers a necessary account of a deep crisis that has gone largely unexamined.

The Runaway Boy

Author: Manoranjan Byapari (Author), V Ramaswamy (Translator)

Pages: 361

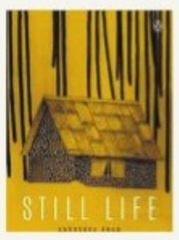
The first part of Byapari's trilogy of novels begins in East Pakistan. It tells the story of Jibon, who arrives at a refugee camp in West Bengal as an infant in the arms of his Dalit parents escaping from the Muslim-majority nation. Deprived of the customary sweetness of a few drops of honey at birth, he grows up perpetually hungry for hot rice in the camp where the treatment meted out to dispossessed families like his is deplorable. Jibon runs away when he's thirteen to Calcutta because he's heard that money flies in the air in the big city. His wildly innocent imagination makes him believe that he can go out into the world, find work and bring back food for his starving siblings and clothes for his mother whose only sari is in tatters. And once he leaves home, through the travels of this starving, bewildered but gritty boy, we witness a newly independent India as it grapples with communalism and grave disparities of all kinds. In this novel, you see a Chandal, Namasudra boy in all these places. You are exposed to his fears, his grit, his spirit for survival – all through Byapari's inimitable gaze.



STILL LIFE

Anoushka Khan

Pages: 112

Pinky is a recluse who rarely leaves the suburbs. When her husband, Pasha, goes missing and everyone assumes the worst, she sets off to find him. In her search, she encounters a dream-like landscape, the ancient interior of the city she was born in; the bright farms and fields of Pasha's childhood and the dark wilderness of the mountains, where she must finally confront her fears. Still Life is an experiment with visual storytelling, using pictures and words to create a world that is both unsettling and extraordinary. Part road trip, part existential thriller, it seeks new ways to look at love, isolation, memory and loss, asking what connects us to each other and to the natural world, and how we are governed by impulses we barely understand.

DIVING INTO BIBLIOMYSTERIES

I am neither a fan of mystery novels nor of fiction, but I do make an exception when it comes to the bibliomystery, a genre introduced to me by my author friend Pradeep Sebastian. Pradeep's book The Book Hunters of Katpadi, considered India's first ever bibliomystery, revolves around a one-of-a-kind store of rare books in Chennai named Biblio, which specialises in modern Indian first editions. The store is run by two passionate bookwomen whose lives revolve around curious browsers, eccentric book collectors, private-press printers and the occasional thrill of unexpected discoveries of the antiquarian kind.

The famous owner of The Mysterious Bookshop (New York), Otto Penzler, once noted "If you go to the dictionary or hit your computer's spell-check, you will discover that there is no listing for the word bibliomystery…. Nonetheless, bibliophiles who also are mystery fiction aficionados certainly know what the word means… It's pretty clear if the crime involves rare books, or…if much of the action is set in a bookshop or a library, it is a bibliomystery, just as it is if a major character is a bookseller or librarian.'

Bibliomysteries as a sub-genre within detective and crime fiction date back to the 19th century. Scrope, Or The Lost Library by Frederic Perkins in 1874 is often cited as one of the earliest titles in the genre. Modern readers started noticing bibliomysteries only after the success of John Dunning's Booked to Die in 1992 featuring Cliff Janeway, an ex-cop turned book collector who solves crimes around expensive modern first editions. As more titles in the Janeway series emerged successfully, other mystery writers tried their hand at this genre.

Bibliomysteries can be broadly classified into Vintage or Classic (from the 1890s to the 1950's), Modern (1960s to 1990s) and Contemporary (2000 to the present). The conventional bibliomystery is a series featuring a professional or amateur detective who investigates crimes related to books; Kate Carlisle's Bibliophile series is a good example. Another, more complex kind is a one-off novel with books, libraries or manuscripts playing a central role in the plot. This is often a deeply researched work usually set in the past or the future.

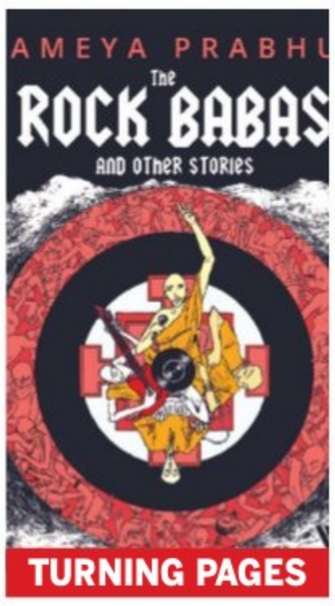
You could say that this second type was initiated by Umberto Eco's The Name of the Rose, followed by other 'biblio-fables' or 'biblio-novels': Codex by Lev Grossman, The Rule of Four by Caldwell and Thomason, The Shadow of the Wind by Zafon, The Club Dumas by Perez-Reverte, The Dante Club by Mathew Pearl, The Nijmegen Proof by Freeman, Knock or Ring by Nelson, and Mr. Penumbra's 24 Hour Bookstore, to name only a handful. They do not strictly conform to the tropes of the genre, as the conventional type does. Fans of Eco's ground breaking book badly wanted him to do a sequel but he refused to oblige them.

Some noteworthy Vintage bibliomystery titles published in the first half of the 20th century are Murder in a Bookshop by Carolyn Wells, Fast Company by Marco Page, The Gutenberg Murders by Bristow and Manning, The Unpublishable Memoirs by Rosenbach, and The Colfax Bookplate by Miller.

If you are new to this genre, a good place to start would be Bibliomysteries edited by Otto Penzler. Bradford Morrow's trilogy is worth exploring: The Forger, The Forgers Daughter and his final (to be published) book pays homage to three towering figures of mystery and suspense fiction – Arthur Conan Doyle, Edgar Allen Poe and Agatha Christie. And finally, The Letter Killeth by Betty Rosenberg includes three essays that I found very entertaining.

For bookworms hungry for a deep dive into the book universe, there's nothing more satisfying than a bibliomystery! The author is a technologist based in Silicon Valley who is gently mad about books.

'THE VALLEY IS THE GATEWAY TO IMMORTALITY'



TURNING PAGES

The Shaman could only converse in the Limbu Language and requested Sonam to translate. We Limbus are the people of the snow and believe that the first man was created from the snow of the Sewalungma. It is the home of our goddess, Yuma Sammang and the other divine deities from our pantheon reside there. We have all descended from the mountain and for us, it is most sacred. Our ancestors once resided in the Mayel valley, located somewhere in the upper reaches of the mountain and hidden from the world by a gigantic rock, immovable by all but divine force. Human beings are forbidden from entering the valley and the entrance is guarded by fearsome demons. The valley is the gateway to immortality for it contains a gigantic blue lake known as the lake of immortality. When one dips into it, one ceases to be human and transcends into the divine to become immortal. Humans and gods once coexisted there but human arrogance and their penchant for anger, greed, selfishness and other baser instincts led to them being banished from the valley with a promise that they would never return. It is now solely a preserve of the divine.

For several millennia, the human race adhered to this rule and stayed away from the Sewalungma.' The group was mesmerised by the story and listening with rapt attention. Helmut, however, considered myths to be obnoxious fairytales and sat there disdainfully. The shaman took a sip of his hot yak butter tea and continued, 'Lately, however, humans are increasingly reneging on their promise and are committing sacrilege by setting foot into the realm of the gods. The all-powerful Yuma Sammangis incensed by the desecration of her home. She has kept silent for all these years, but soon, her rage will manifest itself into a destructive force and consume all those who dare offend her!'

The shaman's eyes lit up as he said these words. The faces of the Sherpas and guides went pale with dread and the Europeans too experienced a degree of trepidation. Sonam ushered the shaman away and escorted him to his hamlet. The last thing he wanted was to scare away the mountaineers for they brought in the big bucks and were an important source of livelihood for the people of the region. Helmut had observed this entire episode with immense derision and was annoyed with himself for having sat through what he considered to be mumbo-jumbo and the ramblings of a deranged old man. He stood up and retired for the night.

The following day, the party recommenced their journey, trekking through several scree slopes and glacial moraines, past the stunning Kanchenjunga glacier, and enjoying spectacular views of the snow-capped mountain ranges. After two days, they finally reached the Kanchenjunga base camp. The group was at the South base camp on the Yulang glacier at an elevation of 5,400 metres. From here, they would begin their climb to the summit of the Kanchenjunga, which, at 8,586 metres, was the third-highest place on earth. After a few days of training and practice, they began their climb to Camp 1. The terrain was mixed—rock interspersed with ice—and they encountered several grassy slopes, rock slabs and moraines. The most challenging part was an almost vertical climb up a section of rock and ice, past a moraine and onward onto a steep snow ridge.

While some of the group were struggling, the experienced mountaineer in Helmut waded effortlessly through even the most technical of climbs and impressed the Sherpas and guides. Over the course of the next week, they walked through ice and snow, braved cold and bone-chilling winds, climbed virtual ice walls using ladders and ropes set up by the Sherpas, jumped through narrow crevices and finally reached Camp 3, at a height of 7,300 metres. Helmut grudgingly admired the mountain climbing abilities, skills and untiring endurance of the

The saga continues with another biography

"Kamala, you may be the first to do many things, but make sure you are not the last," the US Vice President-elect's mother Shyamala Harris told her once, says this revelatory and inspiring biography of the female icon of the moment, to be released on the day she takes office on January 20.Close on the heels of Kamala's Way comes another biography, Kamala Harris: The American Story that Began on India's Shores (Hachette) that continues the extraordinary and inspirational tale of this courageous and charismatic woman, a pioneer in her own right, who has today become a symbol many look up to in the hope of a more inclusive world. Her inspirational rise to the top holds the promise that she will not be the last woman to conquer this mountain. In this narrative, readers get a glimpse into Harris' formative years with her mother and sister, and particularly the considerable influence her mother, Shyamala Gopalan, had on her life and worldview. It provides insights into the ideas that got Harris interested in lawmaking and the immense contributions she made in several areas in politics and society in America before entering the presidential race. The author, Hansa Makhijani Jain, juggles her time between writing and editing. IANS

New book on the block

Maiya Publishing, a Bengaluru-based publishing house has come out with a series of e-books for children during the past few months. The first in the series is Kuku's Summer At Home. It traces little Kuku's life during the Covid pandemic. She keeps dreaming of going to her grandmother's house. What happens next? This past summer has been tough on children due to the pandemic, with them having to adapt to new ways of living. The book is a reflection of that new life, mixed feelings, and new learnings. It's an optimistic view of the world, despite all that was "not so nice" in 2020. The book is written by Bengaluru-based independent writer Bhumika Kulkarni, and illustrated by city girl Anika Ravanan, a grade 11 student. The e-book, aimed at the two-to-10-years age group, is priced at ₹30 and is delivered in your email. It can be bought on maiyapublishing.com.

The test of Test cricket

In the three years that this column has been active, I have often written about Test cricket. My friends would often jibe about me being an old man in a young world. 'Who's your target audience?' they'd ask - 'The retiring batch of Rotary Club?'

As a kid, I hated Test cricket from the bottom of my heart. My father would perch himself across the TV to watch Test matches. This meant that all the other programmes were cancelled. It meant having to wait another week to find out what Shaktimaan did to the evil villains. I cursed Test cricket, and my loyalties lay with the new format that had captured the imagination of a newly liberalised India - One Day Internationals. The exciting format where cricketers played for nearly 12 hours a day, scoring at a breathtaking rate of four runs per over! My father never gave me a lecture about Test cricket. Perhaps he knew that it'd only be a matter of time!

My late teens coincided with the rise of T20 cricket and IPL. In no time, India became the economic powerhouse of the sport, thanks to the billions of fans. I mocked geriatric commentators who often remarked that Test cricket was the purest form of cricket.

My appreciation for Test cricket blossomed in my 30s. When I learnt to appreciate that Test cricket was not about brute force or dominance, but about grilling it out under the sun for the better part of a week. Cricket journalists often use war analogies to describe cricket matches, but Test cricket isn't about bombarding the opposition. It is about getting together as a team holding the fort for five days. It is about zooming out and looking at the larger picture – that the opposition might win a session, but there's the rest of the day. That they might be up on one day, but one had four more days to bounce back. That it wasn't really a skirmish, it was a long, thought-out format that would have driven Chanakya delirious with joy. If T20 is a supersonic rap track by Eminem, Test cricket is a breezy shayari by Sahir Ludhianvi.

A tour to Australia is often the toughest tour in cricket-bouncy pitches, sledging oppositions, fans that spew racist abuse. A community of ex-cricketers who predict a 5-0 whitewash even before the opposition lands on their shores. An Australian tour is usually difficult, but this time it was worse: A global pandemic that had halted play for nearly a year. Cricketers who had been away from home and in quarantine for months at stretch. Injuries to key players, and an embarrassing loss where the team got bundled out for 36 runs. Five new cricketers debuting in the series. All led by a captain so calm, one suspects a Himalayan monk slipped him a few herbs!

To lead an inexperienced team and stretch the series to the last Test, the last day, the last series, and finally the penultimate over! To have a fightback led by Rishabh Pant – all of 23 years young, but having faced more criticism than we will face all our lives. I have no doubt that this will go down as the finest Test series India has ever played. To all those who mocked my devotion to cricket, I have but this to say. T20 cricket is akin to a funny tweet on social media. Test cricket is akin to reading a humour column during lunch time on a Wednesday afternoon!

A still from Trivikrama

The film is now in the post-production process, and will be out in theatres around Ravichandran's birthday

Vikram's debut Trivikrama heading towards a May release

CE FEATURES

VIKRAM Ravichandran's current focus is on his debut project, Trivikrama. The action commercial entertainer directed by Sahanamurthy is in the last stages of shooting, and the team is gearing up to leave for Australia in March-end, where they will be shooting the two pending tracks. "Dance master Shekar, who had created Puneeth Rajkumar's song Dance with Appu, will be choreographing these songs. Out of these, one will be a melody number. The locations in Australia were finalised last year, before the Covid-19 outbreak. We are now waiting for snowfall, which we are told will begin only by March or April. We are also awaiting the visa clearance, which might open during the first week of February," says the director.

Giving an update about the release date, he adds, "We are going by our earlier plan of bringing it to theatres around Crazy Star Ravichandran's birthday, which falls on May 30. Post-production work is on to meet the target date."

Trivikrama carries the tagline 'A high voltage love story'. The film is produced by Somanna and Suresh under the banner of Gowri Entertainers. It marks the acting debut in Kannada cinema of model Akanksha Sharma, who came to limelight with her Indian pop romantic single, Do Din. She is once again making waves with her Casanova song, in which she is paired opposite Tiger Shroff. This is her second collaboration with the Baaghi 3 star, who was previously paired with her in the Disco Dancer single, which garnered huge attention.

The romantic drama also stars Akshara Gowda, Chikkanna, Sadhu Kokila, Suchendra Prasad, Shivamani, Adi Lokesh and Telugu actor Jayaprakash in prominent roles. It has Arjun Janya's music, while Santhosh Rai Pathaje and Guru Prashant Rai are handling cinematography.

RAVICHANDRAN TO DIRECT AND ACT IN A POLITICAL DRAMA

The film, which is currently in the scripting stage, will have him collaborate once again with Kannadiga producer NS Rajkumar

N S Rajkumar

CE FEATURES

EVEN as Ravichandran's upcoming period drama, Kannadiga, directed by BM Giriraj, is heading towards a theatre release in the next couple of months, we hear that the Crazy Star has already started working on his next project. According to a source, Ravichandran will now be directing a political drama as well as playing the lead role in the film, which will have him team up once again with Kannadiga producer NS Rajkumar. The filmmaker, who is known to wear multiple hats, is coming up with yet another unique story this time. For NS Rajkumar, who has produced films like Prithvi, Jatta, Myna, Mythri, Kataka and the yet-to-be-released Kannadiga, is now bringing a new subject from his production house.

Ravichandran is said to be working on the story currently, and the makers will come out with an official announcement once the script is ready.

PRUTHVI AMBAAR MAKES BOLLYWOOD DEBUT WITH HINDI REMAKE OF DIA

The actor, who is reprising the popular character of Adi, is currently in Lucknow for the shooting; the Hindi film also has KS Ashoka working as a creative head along with Sachin

A SHARADHAA

PRUTHVI Ambaar is marking his Bollywood debut with the Hindi remake of Dia. The actor, who hit the spotlight with his role as Adi, will be reprising the role in the Hindi version as well. His recent tweet saying, "ShootDiaries Lucknow welcomes with Sharma Ji Ki Chai," had brought attention to what he is up to. CE has now learned that Pruthvi Ambaar has silently joined the team in Lucknow and has even begun shooting.

Dia, directed by KS Ashoka, also starred Kushee Ravi and Deekshit Shetty in the lead roles. The romantic drama, produced by Krishna Chaitanya under the banner of Swarnalatha Production, received an overwhelming response when it was released in theatres in 2020. It later caught viewers' attention worldwide when it was released on the OTT platform. Director Ashoka has already been brought on board the Hindi remake, and he will be working as a creative head along with Sachin in this Bollywood film.

The production house is looking at casting fresh faces for the other characters. The film has also finalised shooting locations in Dehradun and Mussoorie. Pruthvi, who has also established himself in the Tulu film industry, has become one of the busiest actors in Sandalwood post Dia. He currently has a handful of projects, such as Sugarless, Life is Beautiful and Shivappa, among others.

Prabhas, Saif starrer Adipurush takes off

CE FEATURES

The motion capture for Om Raut's Adipurush has commenced today. A big-budget adaptation of the Ramayana, the film stars Prabhas and Saif Ali Khan in the lead roles.

Motion capture technology allows actors to record their movements and performances, which are then used to animate digital versions of their characters. The technique was popularised by films like Sinbad: Beyond The Veil of Mists and Avatar, and is widely used in video-game productions. In the past, Indian films like Kochadaiiyaan (2014) have utilised mo-cap.

Speaking on the process, producer Bhushan Kumar says, "At T- Series, we have always encouraged new ideas and concepts & this coupled with cutting edge technology, paves the way for the future of filmmaking. Om and his team are creating an entire world of Adipurush with the latest technology, commonly used in international cinema but will be explored in Indian filmmaking for the first time."

Producer Prasad Sutar adds, "High-end visual effects combined with real-time technology is commonly used in international films and this always helps filmmakers narrate their story. To create the world of Adipurush and to tell the epic tale, we are bringing together the same. Adipurush is a huge mission for all of us and we are looking forward to embark on this journey with Bhushanji."The mahurat for Adipurush will happen on February 2, 2021.

Arjun Rampal drops his first look from Dhaakad

CE FEATURES

Arjun Rampal has dropped his first look from Dhaakad. The upcoming action flick stars Kangana Ranaut in the lead role. Arjun essays the film's antagonist, Rudraveer.

The 48-year-old actor sits cradling a rifle in the poster. He's wearing dark shades and a beret, with a web of tattoos on his chest. "Evil has a new name - Rudraveer! Super excited to essay an antagonist who is dangerous, deadly and cool at the same time. Here's my look from @sohumrockstrent's #Dhaakad. Arriving in cinemas on 1st October 2021," Arjun wrote on Instagram.

Dhaakad is directed by Razneesh Razy Ghai. The film sees Kangana play an agent named Agni. "I grew up in a military background and prefer the realistic approach (to action)," Razneesh had previously told CE.

Harshvardhan Rane, Sanjeeda Shaikh wrap up Kun Faya Kun

CE FEATURES

THE team of Kun Faya Kun have wrapped up their entire schedule. Directed by Kushan Nandy, the upcoming thriller stars Harshvardhan Rane and Sanjeeda Shaikh. The shooting of Kun Faya Kun happened in Maharashtra in Mahabaleshwar, Wai and Panchgani in November, December and January. The makers are happy that while all safety protocols against COVID-19 were adhered to, they did not turn an impediment in the timely completion of the shoot. Excited about finishing production, Kushan Nandy says, "We have had a very challenging, but successful experience shooting this project, and we can't wait to take the audience on a thrilling ride with this movie, which we have made with a lot of love, laughter and fun on the sets."

Actor Sanjeeda Shaikh adds, "An actor always looks out for different experiences and characters, and I am glad that Kun Faya Kun has given me that edge. I had a wonderful time working on this film and shooting for it, despite the challenges posed by the current times. I am sure the audience will embrace its unique vibe." Harshvardhan Rane says, "This is a time for movies laced with new styles of storytelling and differentiated content. I am so glad about being a part of a film like Kun Faya Kun, which ticks all the right boxes."
The film is produced by Naeem A. Siddiqui (Touchwood Multimedia Creations) and has Kiran Shyam Shroff as its creative producer.
